SOUTH KOREA CRUSHING RED REVOLT

Israeli Claim Capture of Beersheba

Lausche Here Friday; Foe Flouts 'Cuts'

Gov. Herbert, one of four principal speakers at a Cleveland rally yesterday — asked his Democratic opponent to stop talking in generalities about Ohio government economy and state exactly where he would reduce expenditures.

Lausche will be in the hotel ballroom after the talk for interviews with Richland county voters.

Marshall C. Moore, chairman of the Democratic central committee, said tickets for the luncheon, to which the public is invited, are still available at Democratic party headquarters, 19½ North Main street. He said the office will be open until 10 p. m. today.

Moore said persons who are unable to go to the luncheon may be able to attend later to hear Lausche's talk. Moore said the luncheon starts at 12 noon and that Lausche will speak at about 12.30 p. m.

William A. Calhoun president of the county Young Democratic League, will speak on behalf of the county ticket.

Lausche carried his gubernatorial cammpaign into Cleveland today right on the heels of his opponent, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

OFFERS PROGRAM

Attacking the present state administration as allowing political interference with conservation, Lausche, speaking in Warren last night, presented his own six-point conservation program.

Ohio, the former mayor of Cleveland said, must "embark upon an ambitious conservation program with all conservation activities centered in one department."

Included in the former governor's six-point program were proposals on the subjects of stream pollution, depletion of Ohio's water table, lakefront erosion, need for reforestation and renewal of impoverished soil.

In several ward appearances in Cleveland today, Lausche charged that "the extent to which politics has entered the state administration is clearly revealed by the preparation and publication of a political pamphlet now being used as part of the administration campaign."

The former governor declared that the pamphlet "tells many things, but it does not tell in any clear way how the expenditures of the state government have reached such huge totals."

He added:

"No statement of its cost or any explanation why it was printed at public expense for the education not of the public but of campaign speakers has been given."

Southerner Aids Truman

WASHINGTON — (UP)— President Truman's "peace" campaign with the rebellious South gets a lift tonight from a member of one of the foremost families of southern politics.

The President will be introduced to a nationwide radio audience by Actress Tallulah Bankhead, whose Democratic forebears represented Alabama in Congress for 60 years.

The glamorous stage star, whose father was speaker of the house of representatives and whose uncle and grandfather served in the Senate, will make the introduction from a New York theater where she is currently featured in Noel Coward's "Private Lives."

Mr. Truman will speak from the oval room of the White House at 10:05 p. m. (EST). The seven-minute broadcast is sponsored by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (AFL) which has raised more than $500,000 to help the Truman-Barkley ticket.

Husband Replaces Wife On Ballot

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The name of John W. Barkley, attorney and suburban Shaker Heights councilman, will appear on the November ballot as a candidate for state representative to replace his wife, Margaret, who was killed in an auto accident Sunday.

Gov. Herbert, one of four principal speakers at the Cleveland rally — asked his Democratic candidate to stop talking in generalities about Ohio government economy and state exactly where he would reduce expenditures.

Speaking on the same program with the Republican candidate were U. S. Senator John W. Bricker, and Congressman George H. Bender and Frances P. Bolton.

"My New Deal opponent says there is need for economy," said Herbert, referring to his predecessor. "But when he was governor he spent more money with less to show for it than any previous administration in Ohio's history."

Gov. Herbert, who came to Cleveland several hours ahead of schedule to attend the funeral of State Representative Margaret E. Barkley fatally injured in an auto accident last week, asked his enthusiastic audience where his opponent would economize.

"Would he cut the regular departments of your state government, which represent only nine per cent of the total expenditures?" the governor inquired.

"Would he cut the state universities, which represent only eight per cent of the total expenditures?

"Would he cut the welfare institutions, which represent 10 per cent of the total expenditures? Or would he economize by cutting 73 per cent which the state pays in subsidies to the people in the local communities?"

Herbert and the other speakers emphasized the need for unity this year—unity they said could be achieved only by electing Republicans to every local, state and national office.

Dewey Maps Final Phases Of Campaign

NEW YORK — (UP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey conferred with Republican party leaders in the New York area today on the final phases of his campaign strategy.

Dewey was in New York primarily for two "non-political" speeches, the first of which was delivered before the Herald-Tribune forum last night when he pledged that "once and for all there can be no isolation for America."

His second "non-political" speech was scheduled for tonight at a memorial dinner in honor of the late Democratic governor, Alfred E. Smith.

Dewey will return to Albany tomorrow for more conferences before setting out Monday on a final campaign swing that will take him to New England and the middle west.

Dewey shared the speaker's platform at the Herald-Tribune forum with Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman who spoke as the representative of President Truman.

Dewey stressed the importance of a strong American foreign policy and said the bitter sacrifice of two world wars had taught this country "once and for all that there can be no isolation for America."

Murder Suspect Freed On Bond

RAVENNA —(UP)— Jacob McDonald, 76, was free on $5,000 bond today after pleading innocent to the murder of Jackson W. Bailey, 68, following arguments over whether to listen to Jack Benny or a radio give-away show.

Bailey was shot Tuesday, the climax to weeks of arguing over the two radio programs McDonald contends the shooting was accidental.

SABU TAKES A WIFE

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Now it's Mr. and Mrs. Sabu. It was disclosed last night that the "Elephant Boy" of the movies and Actress Marilyn Cooper were married Tuesday night.

Egyptians Unable To Halt Drive

U. N. Order Bids For Truce

TEL AVIV — (INS) — Israeli officials announced the rout of Egyptian forces in the Negev area of southern Palestine today with the capture of the Biblical Beersheba.

This town, southernmost settlement of importance in the Holy Land, fell after heavy nightlong fighting that included hand-to-hand combat.

Substantial booty in the form of anti-aircraft artillery, transport and an enormous amount of ammunition was captured.

Israel troops are now firmly entrenched on all arteries of communication throughout the Negev desert.

Other Israeli troops took the Arab stronghold of Beit Natif 22 miles west of Bethlehem, in a drive on Egyptian positions near Jerusalem. Still other columns seized commanding positions on the Majdal Bethlehem road.

ARABS FLEE

The Israelite sweep eastward from the Mediterranean coast precipitated a mass flight from Arab villages in its path.

Simultaneously, Israeli planes were reported to have bombed the Arab strongholds of El Arish, Gaza, and Majdal for the seventh successive day.

After proclaiming their greatest victory in the renewed fighting, Israeli officials told the United Nations that they are prepared to cease fire immediately.

An announcement said that as soon as Acting Mediator Dr. Ralph J. Bunche informs the Jewish state that Egytian troops are ready to halt hostilities, the cease-fire orders will be given to the Jewish fighters.

Beersheba, 35 miles south of Jerusalem in the heart of the Negev desert, dominates communications from Egypt to the Holy City.

Its capture virtually completes the isolation of Egyptian troops in the Jerusalem area, cutting them off from the main supply routes between the north and south of Palestine.

The Egyptians seized the Biblical city only a few weeks after they invaded Palestine when the British mandate ended May 15. Since that time they had built it into their main advance base.

Vandals Busy Again

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson today reported a new outbreak of pre-Halloween vandalism in the county rural areas.

Dangerous road blocks were set up at two places on county roads he said. The air was let out of tires on two cars.

Sheriff's deputies said they were called to Geddes avenue and France street about 8.30 p. m. where a road block, made up of corn shocks was set up.

Later they were summoned by Lester Bridges of 47 King street who said boys upset an out-house there and also let the air out of a tire on an automobile in his yard.

Then at 10.42 p. m. deputies were called to Kohler avenue where vandals had set up a road block made of tree limbs. E. A. Stuckey, 25 Kohler avenue also reported that the air had been let out of two tires on his car.

Dayton Beats Chest Quota

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Two Ohio Community Chest drives ended last night, one over the top and one short.

The Dayton drive netted $1,215,800, or two per cent above its goal of $1,195,000.

The Zanesville and Muskingum county campaign, after being extended a week, produced $8,158 less than its goal of $102,973.

First Lady Better

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Mrs. Thomas J. Herbert was convalescing in the Governor's mansion today from an operation performed last Tuesday in Mount Carmel hospital. Her condition was described as good.

KIDNAPED BABY RETURNED—A touching scene is enacted at police headquarters in Baltimore, Md., as Jo Ann Mezzanotte, 21/2 months, kiddnaped 24 hours earlier, is returned to her parents, alive and well. The mother, Dolores, 28, clasps the infant from Police Commissioner Hamilton R. Atkinson. The baby's father, Michael, is behind the infant.

Explosions Rock W. Columbus

4 Injured In Blast At Sun Oil Company

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Four persons were injured early today when a Sun Oil company warehouse, valve house and two trucks exploded and burned just west of the Columbus city limits.

Warehouseman William Love, 23, of Columbus, and truck driver Layton Royse, 26, of Cincinnati, both were blown several feet by two terrific blasts that set off what a fire chief said was one of the worst fires in Columbus history.

Firemen Paul Buchanan, 30, and Howard Specht, 24, members of seven companies rushed to the scene, received battery acid burns while playing a stream of water about the inside of the burning warehouse.

Hospital attendants said one of Buchanan's eyes was injured by the acid.

Fire Prevention Chief Harry W. Caldwell said the combination of gasoline and oil sent flames 100 feet into the air. He said the heat developed by the roaring flames ranked the fire among the worst to hit Columbus.

VICTIM DESCRIBES BLAST

Royse said he pulled in from Cincinnati about 4:30 a. m., with a load of batteries and that he and Love were unloading his truck when two terrific explosions ripped the air, sending flames 100 feet into the sky.

He saw us and took us to the hospital."

Hospital authorities said Royse and Love both suffered second and third degree burns about the face.

The fire department rushed seven pump companies to the scene of the three alarm fire and reported the blaze under control at 7 a. m.

Allies Back Peace Plan

Accept Formula Of Small Nations

PARIS—(INS)—The three western powers who have decided to withdraw their condemnation of Russia as a threat to peace if the Berlin blockade is lifted, accepted a small-nation formula today as a "hopeful basis" for solving the Berlin crisis.

John Foster Dulles, making his maiden speech before the United Nations assembly here, at the same time pledged the United States to renewed cooperation with Russia.

The compromise solution tentatively accepted by the western powers calls for new talks on the Berlin currency and German peace treaty problems after Russia lifts the Berlin blockade.

The compromise was drafted after repeated talks between Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky and Chairman Juan A. Bramuglia of the Security council.

The proposal was submitted early today to both Vishinsky and the western powers. Vishinsky forwarded it to Moscow so he could have the Kremlin's answer before the Security council resumes debate on the Berlin crisis tomorrow.

Cut Seen In Supply Of Steel

Plant Lease Called Threat

Production of at least one Mansfield industry will be curtailed if the Kaiser-Frazer leased Cleveland blast furnace does not continue supply of pig iron to the former customers of Republic Steel.

George L. Draffan, president of the Ohio Brass company, said that one-third of the company's pig iron supply has come from the former Republic furnace so far this year, but "if that source is not available we won't know where to turn."

"It's a pretty serious situation. At present Republic is under agreement with Kaiser-Frazer to supply former customers until May 1. If we can't get another supplier after that, I don't know of another avenue open to us but to curtail production."

Threat of curtailment of supply from the former government-owned furnace has also effected the Barnes Manufacturing company where the supply probably will be smaller, according to Fred B. Hout, vice president of the company.

"We've had assurance that there will be enough raw material to take care of users in this part of the country," Hout said.

From 25 to 30 per cent of the pig iron used at Barnes comes from the Cleveland furnace.

PINCH COMING

"We will be pinched, there's no question about it," Hout continued. "We'll feel it but we don't thing it will be critical."

Hout explained that the pig iron produced by the Cleveland furnace will be largely for sheet steel manufacture. Barnes requires pig iron to use for castings.

The Cleveland furnace, taken over by the government during the war, was officially given to the K-F organization last Saturday by approval of the justice department in Washington.

The 20-year-lease on the furnace has been under fire from plants throughout this part of the country for almost a year, as manufacturers feared a drastic cut in their supplies should the furnace be leased to the automotive concern.

Navy Plane Is Missing

SEATTLE —(UP)— Naval officials reported today that an F-6-E Navy fighter plane with one man aboard was missing on a routine flight over the Hoods Canal area in western Washington.

The pilot of the plane was Lt. Cmdr. Lilburn A. Edmonston, Louisville, Ky., officials said.

The plane was due back at Seattle's Sandpoint Naval Air Station at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday and had sufficient fuel to remain aloft for 90 minutes.

Elissa Landi Plays Her Final Role

Death Ends Career of Italian-Born Star

KINGSTON, N. Y. — (AP) — Elissa Landi, Italian-born actress and novelist, died of cancer today at the age of 43.

Miss Landi died in Kingston hospital where she had been a patient for the past 10 days.

Miss Landi was an artist of multiple facets equally successful as motion picture and stage star, as a novelist, as a linguist, as a pianist and as a singer.

Her varied talents, combined with a subtle blonde beauty, won her praise from both dramatic and literary critics of a half dozen nations.

She was born Dec. 6, 1904, in Venice, Italy, the daughter of Austrian Count and Countess Zanardi-Landi.

She reputedly was the granddaughter of Empress Elizabeth of Austria but with a reticence rare in actresses she always refused to confirm or deny her royal ancestry.

Miss Landi came to the United States in 1931 and made her Broadway stage debut in the leading feminine role in Rouben Mamoulian's production of "A Farewell to Arms."

She got her start in movies in London when she was 24 by writing a play concerned with actors during World War I. She went to a studio to gather local color and was hired on the spot as an actress.

She was given the nickname of the 'loneliest woman in Hollywood' because she seldom mingled with the movie set at parties in the film capital.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Caroline Maude Landi Thomas, born in 1944; her father, Count Charles Zanardi-Landi of Kingston, and a brother, Anthony, of Hollywood.

Phony Fire Chief's Fun Befuddling

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Some local character had fun playing fire chief last night and got away with it.

First, he swiped Second Assistant Fire Chief Elmer Cain's bright red auto. Then he tore around town announcing phony positions to central headquarters over the chief's radio.

At one point, he announced he had donned the chief's hat. Then he had the gall to cut loose with a loud blast on the siren. Distraught cops finally found the car—empty.

Chest Drive Total Up To $30,010

$6,000 More Pledged Since Yesterday

A total of $30,010 had been pledged in the Community Chest drive at noon today, as workers reported in the fourth day of the campaign for $122,635.

Today's figure represents an increase of more than $6,000 over yesterday's total of $23,859.

The Red Feathers unit, headed by James McConnell, is leading the two major divisions of the drive with a total of $17,827. The Blue Stars unit, headed by Harold Osmond, has raised $12,183.

Industrial Division B has raised the largest amount of any division in the drive. This division, which is in McConnell's unit, reported a total of $9,888 at noon today.

LEADS DIVISIONS

The general division, headed by Mrs. Louis Jisa, is leading all divisions in the largest percentage of quota raised so far. Mrs. Jisa's group has raised $4,362, more than 50 per cent of its quota.

Industrial A division, in Osmond's unit, reported a total of $2,300 this morning.

Team 18 of the special gifts division reported that it had exceeded its quota by 44½ per cent. Its quota was $294 and the group raised $425. Dr. Karl Langacher heads the team.

Willis Carto, general chairman of the drive, said the factories are all working on the drive, but many have not made reports yet. He said that the uptown divisions have not reported because they are waiting for Saturday's pay day before completing their soliciting.

Carto said that he expected Monday to be a big day when both industries and uptown divisions make their reports.

Authorities said they believed the couple died in a suicide pact.

Clay Defends Leniency Act

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Lucius Clay said today he cut the life sentence of Ilse Koch to four years imprisonment because the trial record did not warrant a life sentence. He said the cut was not an act of clemency or generosity.

"My judgment may be wrong but it is in accordance with my conscience," Clay said.

Clay, American commander in Germany, discussed the case at a news conference.

Flames Damage Training Center

Called to the Naval Training center on Ashland road at 7:40 a. m. today, firemen found the ceiling of the recreation room smouldering.

Hundreds Killed In Rebellion

Troops Trap Insurgents

SEOUL—(INS)—President Syngman Rhee announced today that a communist-led rebellion in American-occupied South Korea is being smashed after exacting hundreds of lives in two days of battles that are still raging.

The President said loyal government troops are closing traps around insurgent forces which tried unsuccessfully to advance to Seoul and link up with communist groups inside the Korean capital.

Dr. Rhee disclosed that "many arrests" had been made in Seoul today of persons who presumably included secret communist instigators of the revolutionary uprising.

Most of the Seoul ringleaders of the asserted plot to overthrow the southern Korean republic and unite with Soviet-controlled North Korea were declared to have been rounded up.

President Rhee told newsmen in Seoul the "final mopping up operations" against the rebel forces would require no more than four days. Earlier today, Home Minister T. Y. Yun had said the complete crushing of the revolt would take one to two weeks.

TROOPS REINFORCED

Reinforced South Korean army contingents, the president announced, are converging on the battle zone north of rebel-held Yosu. Dr. Rhee said the loyal troops are encircling some 1,300 insurgents in the Chiri mountains and several hundred others in embattled Sunchon, to the south.

The heavily armed rebel forces, including a considerable number of constabulary mutineers, had driven north 52 miles from their starting point, in the direction of Seoul, when they were hurled back from the gates of Namwon.

At Namwon the rebel column had pushed to within 135 miles south of Seoul before it was stopped and turned back. The insurgent advance had proceeded up Korea's south-north railroad and highway. Some of the rebels rode in a captured train and others in trucks and autos.

Dr. Rhee said he expected the South Korean army to "clear out" all the rebels in the Chiri range and in Sunchon within two days. He predicted it would take another two days for the loyal troops to recapture the port of Yosu which is still occupied by the revolutionists. Yosu lies at Korea's southernmost tip.

Showers Forecast

The mercury finally began to climb today, but showers are expected to accompany the warmer weather, the forecast said.

After dipping to 28 degrees this morning, the temperature moved up to 47 at noon. It was expected to go considerably higher by mid-afternoon.

Mansfield was one of the colder spots in the state, sharing honors with Columbus and Cleveland for the lowest mercury reading.

Showers were forecast for late today and tonight, but they probably will end tomorrow before the big football game between the Mansfield Tygers and Massillon Tigers, the forecast indicated.

Hill and Valley Garden Club Meets

The regular meeting of the Hill and Valley Garden club of Lexington was held recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Lawrence, with Mrs. Clark Robinson as associate hostess. Roll call was answered by giving "My Favorite Evergreen."

Mrs. W. J. Hirth entertained during the program period with a paper on "Evergreens" and Mrs. Clark Robinson spoke on "Hobbies." Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting with appointments in keeping with the Halloween season. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Scott, with Mrs. Ira Dill assisting.

Women who are inclined to be stocky and on the short side, should avoid wearing their hair in a long bob, as it tends to make their necks look thick. Short, tailored coiffures are far more attractive.

FROSTING SAVER

To save frosting a butter cake, sprinkle the batter with finely chopped filberts before baking; do not use sponge-type cakes since the batter is not heavy enough to hold the nuts and they will sink to the bottom.

IN MEMORIUM of our son, Earl Swerval jr., who died 8 years ago Oct. 20, 1940
Our loved one is gone.
A voice we loved so dear
His chair is vacant in our house,

God in his wisdom can recall
The loved that he has given
And though the body slumber here.
His spirit is safe in heaven.
Missed by Mother, Father, Brothers and Sisters.

WANT TO GO SOUTH THIS WINTER?

(You Can Leave On Schedule)

Poor results in the past need not mar your plans. Your property can be sold quickly, efficiently and profitable. We sell plenty of real estate, largely because we concentrate on the most commonly known medium of success (hard work). When we list a property for sale exclusively for 3 months, we usually sell it in the early period of our "listing agreement" with a minimum of fuss and bother.

Our office does not list property that is completely out-of-line with the true value on today's market.

We are proud of our reputation for pulling property out of selling-ruts, but why allow the sale of your property to bog-down; you can save yourself enormous headaches if you call us in the beginning. There's no two ways about it, we do our job and we do it well.

U. S. Plans Arms Aid To West Europe

Military Weapons Now Being Readied

PARIS —(INS)— The United States was said authoritatively today to be "moving ahead fast" with plans to help arm the Western European Union.

International News Service is able to reveal that one of the most important and far-reaching of plans which have been put in motion involves the reactivating of military weapons of all kinds which are stored at army depots throughout the U. S.

These weapons are being overhauled and modernized in preparation for shipment to France, Britain and other western European nations next spring.

The shipment will be subject to congressional approval of a military aid program. The weapons are being made ready in anticipations of such authorization.

There is no doubt that if President Truman is returned to the White House he will ask Congress to approve such a program.

Also, Republican foreign affairs expert John Foster Dulles had indicated that if Gov. Thomas E. Dewey becomes president he will do likewise.

Vast quantities of military weapons which now are being reactivated in army depots include some first class tanks designed especially to knockout the German "Tigers."

CASH OR CONSIDERATIONS

It is recognized that the five governments — Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—will not be able to pay cash for the American military equipment, and the question of how to arrange the transfer now is subject to consideration.

However, there is good reason to believe, regardless of which administration is in the White House, the American government's willingness to arm the Western European nations will be based on acceptance of certain conditions.

These may involve military, political and economic considerations.

The first may involve American consultation in connection with Western European Union defense strategy and acceptance of an American supreme commander in event of war.

The second may call for a possible promise that recipient governments move ahead more quickly toward establishing a Federated United States of Europe.

The third may demand pursuance of sound economic policies.

It is realized that rearmament of Western Europe may tend to slow up the Marshall Aid plan, but the view now prevails in high American circles that the security of the west, and especially the restoration of the balance of power in Western Europe, is of paramount importance.

Reasonable security should not only help speed economic and political stability in the western nations but even might lead Russia to come to terms.

37 Dead as Dutch Airliner Crashes In Scotland

9 Americans Listed As Passengers

Hits Power Line Near Tarbolton

PRESTWICK, Scotland — (AP)—A flaming Royal Dutch Airlines (KLM) Constellation crashed in a cow pasture near here today, killing 37 of the 40 persons aboard. Nine of the dead were Americans.

The three survivors all were Dutch. One American, identified as Matilda Katherine Rohrs at a nearby hospital, died of her injuries several hours after the crash.

The huge four-engined plane en route from Amsterdam, burst into flames after it struck a high tension wire while groping for fog-shrouded Prestwick airport. It crashed near Tarbolton, a few miles outside of Prestwick.

The pilot radioed the control tower at the field:

"I have hit something. I am going on fire. Attempting to climb."

Nothing more was heard from the plane.

Identification of the victims, some burned beyond recognition, had not been completed by midmorning. Only six persons got out of the flaming wreck alive and three of them died later of burns and other injuries.

The three survivors were reported gravely injured.

Two of the 40 persons aboard apparently jumped out seconds before the plane plunged into the pasture.

One body was found a mile from the wreckage.

AMERICAN DEAD

The Americans on the passenger list were identified by the Lockheed corporation, manufacturers of the plane, as follows:

Mary Badir, New York City.

Henry Fimmie St Albans, N. Y.

Frederick Ludwig Rohts (as given out by Lockheed, but possibly Rohrs, New York City.

William Francis Gale, New York City.

Rupert Wedermeyer, San Francisco.

Emma Wedermeyer, same address.

James Rampas, Cicero, Ill.

John Reichel, Washington.

An eyewitness said Mrs. Rohrs' clothes were on fire when she was dragged out of the plane. "They pulled her clothes off and beat out the flames," he said.

Another eyewitness said one dead woman clutched the body of a child. Both were burned almost beyond recognition.

Most of the dead were trapped in the wreckage. Others were thrown as far as 50 yards from the flaming remains of the plane.

The airport and villages in the surrounding area were plunged into darkness after the plane struck the high tension wire. The plane later plowed through telephone wires, disrupting communications.

The plane, named the Nijmegan, was piloted by Koene D. Parmentier, one of Holland's most noted fliers, who was chief pilot for KLM. He was reported among the dead.

TOLEDO —(AP)— Prince Alfred Hohenlohe of Austria one of the passengers killed in the crash of a Royal Dutch Airlines plane in Scotland, was en route to Toledo to attend the wedding of a stepdaughter.

Poor Sight Hampers 35

BUCYRUS — Visual examination of the eyes of 84 pupils at Kearsley grade school here resulted in finding 34 defects, James Carson, Lions club sight conservation committee chairman, reported today.

To date, three Bucyrus optometrists have examined 371 pupils and 152 were found defective. About 630 pupils remain to be examined.

The program is sponsored by the Lions club, which also is sponsoring an annual banquet and party for the 48 formerly cross-eyed persons, both children and adults, whom the club has taken to Pontiac, Mich., for eye straightening. Parents of the children also will be guests at the banquet, which will be held Nov. 16 at the Moose home here.

Police Solve Fur Coat Case Without Clue

The veil of mystery shrouding the policeman's ball "theft" of a fur coat was lifted today when red-faced police discovered that an absent-minded husband picked up the article when he left Monday night.

Mrs. Merle Wheitners $400 fur coat, missing from the Coliseum check room after the police ball Monday night, is back with its owner today.

Mrs. Wheitners coat was returned to the police department last night by a South Diamond street resident who said his son-in-law had taken the coat by mistake from the cloak room.

The grey cloth coat belonging to the wife was exchanged for the fur coat at police headquarters after being held since the ball Monday night.

GOP Asks 'Savings'

State and Richland county GOP organizations have asked party members to contribute a "substantial" part of their first year's savings under the new income tax law to the party treasury.

In letters to party members, the committees enclosed a chart computing the approximate savings in income taxes for various groups as a result of the new tax law passed by the 80th Congress.

The chart declared . . . "it is imperative that a Republican president be elected in November . . . should there be a New Deal Congress and president YOU can expect the (tax) reductions to be wiped out.

Fralick Returns To County Race

BUCYRUS—Amos Fralick, Bucyrus farmer, was back in the race today for Crawford county commissioner.

Fralick, a veteran of World War I, withdrew as a Republican candidate for commissioner several weeks ago to accept a position in California with Bill Jack of Jack and Heinz fame. During World War II Fralick was employed as one of the plant executives with Jack and Heinz in Cleveland.

W. H. Magers, Crestline merchant, is Fralick's running mate. They are opposed by Walter Sargel of Galion, incumbent commissioner, and Roy Eichhorn of Whetstone township.

Hill Fails To Testify

Defense Action Surprises Court

MEDINA — (AP) — The defense rested its case today in the first degree murder trial of 19-year-old Clark Hill, without putting the defendant on the stand.

Defense Attorney Raymond B Bennett surprised the prosecution and the three-judge court by closing his case without presenting Hill's testimony

Hill is charged with murdering Jeanette Weimer, a 17-year-old car hop.

Hill's own story of the Mogadore, O., girl's death in his father's parked car on a lonely road already has been told in a 25-page confession After his murder trial started he repudiated this.

At one point in the statement, he said he piped poisonous exhaust fumes into the car for fear that she was dying from a sexually exciting drug he shook into her milk shake earlier in the evening. He said he wanted the death to appear accidental.

Erhardt J Kunde, Cleveland city chemist, had something to say about that toward the close of the state's case yesterday

The contents of the girl's stomach, he said indicated she had consumed 30 5 grains of a sex drug In previous testimony, Dr S R Gerber, Cleveland coroner, said a dosage in excess of one grain could be fatal to a human

Toward the close of yesterday's session, Defense Attorney Raymond B Bennett called two witnesses to the stand: An Akron physician, Dr Roger E. Pinkerton and Hill's father, Herman.

Dr. Pinkerton said he found no traces of mental illness in the 19-year-old Hill and described him as a man of about average intelligence.

Herman Hill took up the theme of the broken exhaust pipe, already admitted as evidence and the main point so far of the defense. They say the fumes leaked into the car and killed the girl.

"I drove the car from the state highway patrol barracks to the courthouse on the night of April 10," said the youth's father. "It made an awful racket and filled the body with smoke.

'Ferretting' Out the Facts

New London Industry Reborn

By HENRY PARNELL
(N-J State Correspondent)

NEW LONDON—A New London business which during the early 1890's had the undisputed reputation of being "the largest of its kind in the United States" is once again making a determined challenge for national ranking—thanks to the ever-increasing demand for the small rat-like animal known as the ferrett.

At the close of the late war, the ferrett-raising industry was threatened by near-extinction but is now emerging from the shadow of uncertainty.

Known years ago as an excellent ratter and hunter, it's use for this purpose has been outlawed in most states, but in it's stead, the ferrett has been found far superior to guinea pigs for laboratory experimentation, consequently the demand is growing by leaps and bounds.

About the year 1884, Levi Farnsworth of New London began raising the small animals, chiefly for protection and small game hunting Ever increasing demands called for greater capacity and more help Levi was soon joined by his brothers, Sam, Ezra and George. All are dead but Sam, who still helps at the pens At the peak of sales, over 10,000 ferretts were being sold annually, either in pairs or singly.

USED FOR SCIENCE

There was an alarming drop in sales when the "no use for hunting" ban went into effect, but very soon afterwards, laboratories began to discover their use in experiments. The ferrett is far ahead of the guinea pig for this purpose, being nearer developed to human construction and more easily adapted to testing for human ailments, scientists have discovered

Two of the Farnsworth's died leaving Levi and Sam, assisted by Levi's son Richard, to carry on. Then the war came. Dick went into the Air Corps, and Levi Farnsworth passed on. The burden was just too much for Sam to carry on alone, so gradually it began to dwindle until there wasn't too much left. Finally, the war ended and Dick came home.

Here he was joined by Maurice (Morry) Smith, lifetime friend and together the two of them began overhauling an almost defunct business.

Today, just three years later, the boys still aided by "old Sam" have three long pens, housing between eight and nine hundred pairs of ferretts, another pen under construction, an annual fall and winter shipping of over 300 pairs a season, ranging from nine to twelve dollars per pair, according to age.

DIET ON MUSH

Chief diet of ferretts is horse meat and mush made of finely ground wheat, cooked with whole milk, in cereal fashion. The cows are milked daily by the Farnsworths, the entire supply going into ferrett feed Two horses are shot, dressed and used weekly. At one time a horse a day was being used.

To obtain suitable "ferrett horses" is now quite a problem, in this age of mechanized farm labor. Usually, the animals used are old, poor stock, entirely unfit for any other use. The animals, often-times too weak to even stand, are shot and then hauled to the Farnsworth's stockpen.

In addition to their extensive ferrett business, the boys find leisure time for other hobbies. They are both married, with family interests and ties. Dick is quite a bowler, and likes to mix it on the basketball court, playing his high school position at guard. Morry, who lives in town does considerable bowling too and in addition holds the distinction of being the youngest member of the New London Village Council, serving on Street and Sewers committee.

Wallace Sees 'Hidden Vote'

NEW YORK — (UP) — Henry A. Wallace returned to New York today to concentrate on radio campaigning after his 9,500-mile swing by chartered airplane around the country.

New Homes Rapped By Executive

Decries Breakage Of Safety Rules

CHICAGO — (UP) — Too many safety rules are being broken in the designing of new homes, a building executive reports.

Tyler S Rogers of the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp Toledo O, told the home section of the National Safety Congress that home design deserves concentrated action because it is a contributory cause to thousands of accidents each year

He said that architects and designers, trying to cut corners to meet demands for lower costs, often are overlooking safety rules. "We are, I fear, building broken legs, arms, necks, and heads into altogether too many new houses," said Rogers.

Rogers said much of the blame rests upon owners who ask for unsafe features in their houses

"Some of them are entranced with the narrow steep winding staircase found in many old center-chimney salt box or Cape Cod houses of colonial days he said

"Others want a winding, gracefully curved staircase reminiscent of the grand manor houses they have seen in the movies—but they don't have the space to make them reasonably safe,' said Rogers

He said manufacturers of home appliances and furnishings must share the blame with owners, architects and designers

It isn't enough merely to require these products be safe when properly used," he said 'We should insist that they be designed so that they cannot become hazardous even when properly used

Air Lift Hailed As Peace Aid

Halts Immediate Crisis In Berlin

By the air lift to Berlin the United States Air Force has done something which was certainly not foreseen by the Russians, nor, it is fair to say, by the statesmen of the west. The principal effect of this remarkable and brilliant improvisation has been to postpone the necessity for a solution of the Berlin crisis. Without the air lift the choice would by this time have been between appeasement and war — the surrender of Berlin or an armed challenge to the ground blockade.

The air lift has enabled us to remain in Berlin and to feed the Germans in the western sectors without attacking, except by diplomacy, the Soviet blockade. As a result the Russians have been confronted with the choice of accepting the air lift or of firing the first shots in a world war. Thus far they, too, have preferred diplomacy—as they understand diplomacy.

The air lift, has, therefore, succeeded in ofsetting, sufficiently for the time being, the inherent strategic advantage which the Russians have because Berlin is deep inside their zone of military occupation. But the air lift is, nevertheless, only a means of postponing a showdown or a settlement. It is not, and it cannot be made, more than that.

GIVES U. S. TIME

The air lift is not an instrument of decision but an instrument which provides time during which decisions can be made.

Time is being bought by the air lift which, given the circumstances, has had to be bought. The circumstances could and, in the view of some of us, should not have been what they are! It was unwise to force the German issue this year. But it was forced, After that, time had to be bought. For no one was ready to deal with the German issue which had been forced.

Though it would have been wiser to temporize with the German question until next spring, until the new administration was organized, until the Marshall plan was taking effect, until the plans for Western Union were adopted and in effect, rasher counsel prevailed and it was not done. The air lift has, however, been improvised. It has done what could have been done more cheaply and less dangerously by diplomacy — that is to say, it has enabled the statesmen to temporize with the German question.

It is evident that in one way or another the need to temporize will be there for some months to come. Even if a compromise is arranged in Paris which deals with the blockade, the currency, and a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers, such a compromise now can be only an arrangement to postpone the serious business.

For the outgoing Truman administration cannot negotiate a German peace treaty, not even with the utmost in collaboration under the bipartisan understanding. General negotiations for a German peace treaty cannot be undertaken until the Dewey administration is firmly installed. For the negotiation of a peace treaty will require new decisions of high policy which are not now covered by the bipartisan understanding. There is some reason to think that this determining fact is understood abroad, not only in London and in Paris, but also in Moscow and in Warsaw.

Does this mean that if the mediator nations in Paris are unable to arrange a compromise, nothing useful can be done at the Council of Foreign Ministers? Not necessarily. During the interregnum this winter the council might accomplish much if it limits severely what it attempts to do.

It would be well, it seems to me, for the council to postpone discussion of the German peace treaty and to discuss instead the protocol of a new armistice agreement. Such a new arrangement would deal with the zones of military occupation and the relaxation, if not the liquidation, of military government. A new agreement of this sort is needed for the period, inevitably a fairly long one, during which the peace treaty is being negotiated and before it could be put into effect.

What Are Communists Doing Here?

THE QUESTION, "Who are Mansfield's 100 Communists?", which was asked by The News-Journal early last month, remains unanswered. A statement to the effect that there are approximately 100 active members of the Communist party in Mansfield, "practically all shop workers," was made here on Tuesday evening, Sept. 7, by Gus Hall, of Cleveland, chairman of the Communist party in Ohio, in a talk given over station WMAN.

While the undercover operations of 100 recorded members of the Communist party in a city of Mansfield's size may be shrugged off as unimportant, a revealing article in the current issue of Collier's Magazine (dated Oct. 23), gives eye-opening information on methods employed by little groups of fanatical communists to worm into key offices in labor unions and to direct their course, despite majority opposition.

The article was written by Louis Francis Budenz, now a professor of economics at Fordham University, who is introduced as having been for ten years a leading member of the Communist party; one-time managing editor of the Daily Worker, leading communist organ, and a former member of the party's national committee.

Turning back to Gus Hall's assertion that there are approximately 100 active members of the Communist party in Mansfield, an illuminating excerpt from the article is that: "For example, about 90 per cent of the OFFICERS of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union are either communists or under communist discipline, while the MEMBERSHIP is probably 95 per cent non-communist."

Examples are given of instances in which small groups of communists gained domination over large numbers of workers, thus making good on the claim that "one party member should be able to move at least 1,000 persons in support of the party line"—which would mean that 100 aggressive and Moscow directed communists in Mansfield would be depended upon to chart the course of action of ALL workers in an even larger city.

The article reveals in intimate detail the fraud, trickery, falsehood, treachery and double-dealing that enters into the infiltration technique and "boring from within" methods used to stir up discord among workers, disturb employe-employer relations, foment strikes, and attempt, in every way possible, to move toward overthrow of the United States government BY FORCE.

One hundred alert and well trained members of the Communist party in Mansfield, as is claimed by Gus Hall, who should know, is not a negligible number, and their identity should be disclosed so that their associate workers can be on guard against methods of approach which Budenz so clearly reveals in his article.

Taking a Look at Greek Situation

WHETHER or not he intended to do so, Secretary of State Marshall has sharply called attention to the internal situation in Greece by his recent visit to Athens. The secretary may have made the trip casually during a brief lull in activities in Paris. Or he may deliberately have chosen to go there at a moment when the world is looking for significance in every move he makes.

As the Mediterranean summer wears to its close, a rebel army is still firmly entrenched in the northern mountains of Greece. Although the Greek army carried out operations against the guerrillas with good success in some sections, in the troublesome northern triangle for some reason the army did not even launch a full-scale campaign against the rebels this summer. The question "Why not?" undoubtedly will be asked when the matter of continued economic and military aid to Greece comes before the United States Congress in the spring.

The whole Greek situation becomes more difficult with the passage of another summer without decisive action against the rebellious forces. The position of the Greek government must be embarrassing and it may be harder than before to convince American congressmen that the aid program should be continued.

To Vote On Soil Conservation District

TOMORROW is the day set for a referendum vote by Richland county farmers on the proposal to establish a soil conservation district in this county—as has already been done in 64 of Ohio's 88 counties.

A favorable vote of 65 per cent is required to proceed further with the project and all owners of three or more acres of land are privileged to vote. Regular township voting places are to be used, these to be open from 1 p. m. until 9 p. m. for the convenience of farmers entitled to vote.

Purpose of the conservation project is to open the way to closer study of Richland county agricultural land with a view to preventing waste by erosion, and to encourage more productive use of farm acreage.

Richland county is recognizedly rich in agricultural development and whatever can be done to conserve this great natural resource deserves encouragement.

Unseen Stars May Be 'Heard'

NOW COMES the astonishing claim that some stars too far distant to be seen can be HEARD! This report comes from a conference on the new science of radio astronomy, held at Cornell University. The instrument of the new science is a radio telescope which picks up the electrical waves which celestial bodies transmit. It may thus locate stars and galaxies which even the largest regular telescope cannot reveal.

To the relief of astronomers, the new device costs only $30,000, whereas the new telescope recently installed at Mount Palomar, California, the largest in the world, cost $6,000,000.

This is the week to answer the letter you received, rather unexpectedly, during observance of Letter Writing week.

North Carolina Outlook

By THOMAS L. STOKES

RALEIGH, N. C.—The fact that President Truman selected North Carolina as the appropriate rostrum from which to address the South in this year of turmoil and turbulence below the Mason and Dixon line is a tribute to the state which its leaders earnestly hope it deserves.

It has a well-merited reputation as a progressive state- progressive in every way—and a tradition of tolerance and of genuine liberalism which is exemplified—educationally, for example, in its university, through its present head, Dr. Frank Graham, and politically through many leaders present and past, among them, the late Josephus Daniels, staunch champion of Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt progressivism.

Those traditions are cherished. Today in North Carolina, which reflects the conflicts elsewhere in the south, the visiting observer gets the definite impression that its leaders—political, civic and educational—feel that North Carolina is under test, that it is being challenged, and that they hope very much that it will stand the test and meet the challenge.

There is uncertainty in the air and a vague sense of frustration. The story of North Carolina, like that of Virginia and other southern states, is the story of the Democratic party.

That is so because through the years the party has been the backbone of North Carolina politics, as of southern politics generally, its destinies guided by and large by Democrats, and its heroes and political legends built around that party, and because that party today is on the defensive here as in the rest of the South. That is unusual, and that is, therefore, the news today.

* * *

Inter-Party Strife.

THE challenge that the visitor senses is, therefore, largely a Democratic party problem, since Democrats constitute the preponderant political organism. It is not so much whether the state might go Republican, but whether their own kind, Democrats, should cause that to happen through an unsavory diversionary movement.

That is, whether this strange, hybrid, anti-civil rights movement known as Dixiecrats should confuse and seduce enough Democrats in this state to throw it into the Republican column. Republicanism has a long tradition of its own in this state. Though a minority party, it is a vigorous one that conduces more nearly to a two-party system here than in any other southern states, which is healthy.

But any large-scale exodus among Democrats to the Dixiecrat pied piper of anti-civil rights would injure the pride of many of North Carolina's leaders, since this state has a reputation to preserve in the field of civil rights and decency, over and above plain party regularity.

Of course, practical Democratic politicians want to hold the state for President Truman because that is their business, and success in that business means much to them. But these practical leaders seem impelled, too, by something beyond that, something in the democratic tradition of the state with a small "d". Which is, of course, a tribute to the caliber of practical politicians here.

That would seem to help explain why here, unlike neighboring Virginia, the regular Democratic organization, from Governor R. Gregg Cherry on down, is putting on the steam. The organization, under direction of Capus Waynick, democratic state chairman, is very active all over the state, and just now a series of peripatetic party rallies is raising the alarm against the Dixiecrat irregulars and the Republicans.

President Truman gets his name mentioned out loud in this state, where it is only whispered, and often disdainfully, in Virginia.

Consequently, the best political judgment here is that North Carolina will go for President Truman and not secede temporarily from the party this year as it did in 1928 when Herbert Hoover carried it over Alfred E. Smith.

Estimates range from 100,000 to 150,000 plurality for the President. Mr. Waynick is taking no chances. He is trying to get out a big vote, his target a million, which would be a new high, the previous peak being 790,000 in 1944. Governor Dewey got 263,000 votes four years ago. It will run considerably higher this year.

Republicans, well-financed, are putting on an intensive campaign. There is an outside chance they might elect a House member or two.

Washington Calling

'Against' Instead of 'For'

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHILE it may be difficult to prove statistically, there are indications that, more than in any recent presidential election, voters will this year be casting their ballots against rather than for a candidate of their choice.

It is yet another sign of the attitude of so many citizens—perhaps the average voter—which is compounded of indifference and a kind of let's-see-how-it-turns-out fatalism.

In the South those who vote for the Dixiecrat ticket will be for the most part voting against President Truman and his civil-rights program. They know that Governors Thurmond and Wright have no chance to become president and vice president, respectively.

The Dixiecrat vote will be negative in a broader sense. It is a vote to restore a past that can never be put back again in a world in which change of every kind is occurring so swiftly.

Another of the minority party candidates also will be the beneficiary of a protest vote that should come close to the largest total he has ever received. The protest vote for Norman Thomas, it is scarcely necessary to add, is of an entirely different nature.

The greatly increased Thomas vote will come from those who believe that the two old parties have nothing to offer and yet who cannot accept Henry Wallace because of the communist domination of his third party. In considerable part it also will be a tribute to the integrity and steadfastness of Thomas, the man, from voters who are in no sense of the word socialists. Running for president since 1928, Thomas has made himself a symbol of social change within the framework of the democratic freedoms.

Reports to Thomas campaign headquarters in New York indicate a greater interest than at any time since 1932 when the socialist candidate polled 884,781 votes. One indication is the number of independent voters for Thomas and Smith groups being formed throughout the country.

* * *

Energetic Campaigner.

THOMAS is on the ballot in 32 states and efforts are being made to add Louisiana and Georgia to this list. In several populous states — California, Ohio and Massachusetts — so many signatures to petitions are required that the socialists do not have the funds to organize to meet the requirements.

As in the past, the Thomas campaign will be run on a shoestring. Compared to the many millions spent by the Republicans and the fewer millions spent by the Democrats the Socialists will have, at most, $150,000. The average contribution is under $25 and $300 is likely to be the top.

The campaign is really run, of course, on the energy, the drive, the tireless conviction of Thomas, who at the age of 64 is in his sixth presidential campaign. The fact that he hasn't a ghost of a chance to win a single state does not deter him.

Speaking on village greens, at crossroads, in university auditoriums, Thomas is carrying the campaign to almost every section of the country. His daily schedule exceeds even that of President Truman and Thomas travels in lower berths (or even upper berths), on buses and at times in his own sound truck with none of the luxuries or conveniences of a special train with a secretarial staff.

Four years ago Socialist voting strength had declined to 80,518. The fact the war was on had a lot to do with this, although the total of 99,557 in 1940 was only slightly larger. The estimate for this year, which like all political estimates is probably too optimistic, is "better than 600,000."

Many will argue the futility of any kind of protest vote. But if, as seems likely, a vote approaching that of 1932 is rolled up it will be a significant sign of the times that cannot be ignored.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Dewey Will Need Fair-Minded Senate

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The record of Congress during recent years is not unlike the present garbled politics of the country. Party lines have been cut. Republicans sometimes voted with Democrats; some Democrats lined up with Republicans.

This will probably continue. It will probably also be true that Dewey will get as much support from certain Democrats as he will from some Republicans.

On international issues — now probably the most important before Congress—it is certain that most Democratic senators will give him more backing than such isolationists as Brooks of Illinois, Dworshak of Idaho, or Robertson of Wyoming.

In fact, the irrepressible, lovable Congressman John Taber has already served notice that the GOP isolationists are planning to give brother Dewey a rough time on two issues—economy and international cooperation.

Electing the right kind of Senate, therefore, is second only to the election of president. With this in mind, here is the Merry-Go-Round roll-call of U. S. senators up for election next month:

Joseph Ball, Republican, Minnesota—A mixed-up personality who gets tangled in his own emotions. A former newspaper man, Ball came to the Senate determined to do right, but when he swung to Roosevelt in 1944 he was so ostracized by his own Republicans that, to win back their favor, he swung to the reactionary extreme. Joe has now been on so many different sides of so many different fences that he has lost his usefulness.

Styles Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire—A tough, forthright scrapper who has usually voted against his isolationist GOP colleagues. He watches pennies, raises Cain over too much spending and frequently votes against the GOP reactionaries. Bridges is an asset to the Senate.

"Curley" Brooks, Republican, Illinois—Brooks has been opposed to almost all of Dewey's New York record. A likable personality with a charming wife, Brooks is wholly controlled by the Chicago Tribune and is almost proud of it. If re-elected he will be in Dewey's hair on many issues.

John Cooper, Republican, Kentucky — Has made an excellent record during his brief term in the Senate, has supported Democrats on foreign policy, and will be an asset if re-elected.

Henry Dworshak, Republican, Idaho—Along with Curley Brooks, he is the most dyed-in-the-wool isolationist in the Senate. Dworshak permitted his mailing list to be used by a Hitler propagandist, was glad to have the support of Gerald L. K. Smith, and is one of the few western senators who didn't fight hard for reclamation. His mediocre Senate record includes trying to get an honorable discharge for an American soldier convicted of rape, murder and running a boy down with a motorcycle. Dworshak will be no asset to Dewey.

Homer Ferguson, Republican, Michigan—Came to the Senate with a record for graft cleanup and as long as the Democrats controlled the Senate, Ferguson had a healthy knack of keeping them on their toes. Once he got into power, however, Ferguson lost that knack. He made a fool of himself in the Howard Hughes investigation, was bluffed out of his probe of Senator Thomas of Oklahoma when Thomas threatened to go after Ferguson and, finally, dropped the Tucker Auto investigation for reasons best known to himself, but after the GOP national committeewoman from Michigan was paid $17,850. A homey, congenial personality, Ferguson won't stand up under fire. He has lost all chance of being Dewey's attorney general—the job he so ardently coveted.

Ed Johnson, Democrat, Colorado—A tough veteran who knows his legislative onions, Johnson does a good job for his state and his voting record usually represents the folks back home. He is a competent public servant.

James Murray, Democrat, Montana—Though a millionaire, Murray has spent all his years in the Senate battling for the underdog. No senator on either side of the aisle has a better record. On international issues and such domestic problems as health and housing he will support Dewey far better than his GOP colleague from Montana.

Edward V. Robertson, Republican, Wyoming—Manager of the Coe ranch, owned by his brother-in-law, the senator has been the undying friend of the big sheep and cattle men, but voted against most measures for labor and the little fellow. Born in England, he married the daughter of H. H. Rogers, partner of old John D. Rockefeller. Robertson has usually voted isolationist and though a wealthy man has had his wife and chauffeur on the government payroll.

Chapman Revercomb, Republican, West Virginia — Handsome, smooth-talking, likable Chappie tangled with Dewey over the Displaced Persons Bill and was even criticized by his own church (Presbyterian) for religious discrimination in connection with this bill. Chappie has consistently voted with the big business interests of his state.

George Wilson, Republican, Iowa—A likable, sweet character, Wilson gets along with all his colleagues, but has been unable to conquer one serious weakness. A man in high public life must necessarily remain reasonably temperate. Unfortunately, Wilson has missed many Senate sessions and important committee meetings because of his intemperance.

Leverett Saltonstall, Republican, Massachusetts — A Boston blueblood who dates his ancestry back to the Pilgrim Fathers, Saltonstall votes right more frequently than he votes wrong. He casts rather a thin shadow on the Senate, however, and sometimes seems almost frightened of that shadow.

Kenneth Wherry, Republican, Nebraska—A likable, rollicking legislative roustabout. Wherry has been wrong on a painful number of issues but deserves credit for his untiring leadership of the Republican side. He has harassed and whipped his GOP colleagues into a smooth-working Senate machine, and it took a man of Wherry's energy and brass to do it.

Other senatorial candidates will be covered in future columns.

Assignment: America

Chosen For His Ability

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — A stalwart, white-haired citizen of sixty-one, who is still a fair country baseball player and a fast man on the tennis court, is back in Washington these days, giving every indication that he intends to stick around a while.

And, since he's not the type of person who would tackle a tough, long-haul job with no more than a sixty or ninety-day guarantee, the grapevine has it that he'll still be working for the government, come the first of the year — no matter who triumphs on election day.

If so, it would indicate that even the heat of a bitter political campaign has not caused the two chief candidates to upset, by squabbling, the scientific research phases of the nation's defense program.

The only provable fact, of course, is that Dr. Karl T. Compton is taking over the task of heading the research and development board of the military services, succeeding Dr. Vannevar Bush.

But friends of the smiling, deceptively soft-spoken head of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology insist that he wouldn't have left his 18-year-old position there merely for a potentially frustrating, flash-in-the-pan gamble as a lame-duck federal appointee.

And, conceding the possibility of a change in administration next year, the only possible conclusion then would be that President Truman and Governor Dewey had reached at least a tacit agreement on the case of Karl Compton.

If so, it would not be too surprising . . .

For one thing, he seldom messes around with politics particularly, until the politicians start tampering with whatever job or jobs he has been assigned to do. Then he has a reputation for slapping their hands impartially.

* * *

Stands Above Politics.

WITHIN the past year, for instance, he has sharply chided the Democratic president and a Republican-ruled congressional committee. In neither case was he even accused of having a political axe to grind.

For another thing, Compton's wartime record is little short of spectacular. Probably no single scientist had as varied and important a part in the research phases of the allied victory. He was and is one of the leading atomic scientists.

He helped develop the deadly proximity fuse which played such havoc with enemy troops and morale when the shells it set off were exploded at treetop height, thus rendering foxholes comparatively useless.

He also was involved in perfecting radar, the tank-busting bazooka and the amphibious duck which shuttled between offshore ships and inland supply dumps on half a hundred beachheads around the world.

While doing all this, he also was continuing to handle his job at M. I. T. — which in itself was a vital war operation, in that it turned out hundreds of expert technicians for the military services.

Of possibly even more importance, in the eyes of the men who made and/or must confirm his appointment, is his record as a top administrator, both in universities and in wartime and postwar federal positions.

While admitting nothing about the possibility of a Truman-Dewey "deal" on the appointment, a leading G. O. P. spokesman commented that "You'd have to look a long ways to get another leading scientist and top administrator in the same package!"

Dave Boone Says:

IN THESE days an optimist is a fellow who makes plans for a full hour in advance.

* * *

If you can read the news of the day — domestic and foreign — and not feel that going over Niagara Falls in a barrel is a minor hazard you are a cheerful soul.

* * *

There was this about the fellow who went over the Falls: He owned the barrel outright, didn't have to wait on a priority list and he used it without federal approvals or international conferences.

* * *

This is United Nations week. Everybody is asked to think of it, pray for it and help it along. Well, that shouldn't be hard. A man who has no faith in the United Nations has no faith in a fire department. And a fellow who would seriously scoff at it would scoff at a life preserver when caught in an undertow.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"We might as well hear it. . . . You're going to have to ask us when she says 'yes.'"

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

A BRITISH scientist finds laughing gas present over the United States . . . That's not surprising after 86 campaign speeches.

* * *

With one of the candidates it's difficult to tell whether he's auditioning for the first Tuesday in November or any Tuesday on radio.

* * *

Pick your own boy. I have two . . . they're small.

* * *

But the campaign proves that any American boy can grow up with the idea of living in the White House . . . and for the first time it's frightening.

* * *

Jesse Jones believes that a president should be limited to one term of six years . . . If they can't have that some candidates will settle for four terms of four years.

* * *

Anyway the campaign is getting so interesting that two columnists have declared war and no reader has noticed it.

Farmer's Diary

Appreciation of Blue Jays

By CALVIN A. BYERS

"The jays scream like they do every fall," an old man told me. "They're sassy birds, but somehow they're lots of company. Every year they build a nest in that cedar tree yonder—about 30 feet above ground, and they bring off a brood of chattering young ones. They build with sticks and twigs off the trees, and line it with bark and feathers. The eggs are a pretty green, and if some old cat thinks she will have herself a meal, they make things hot for her. Once I saw them fight off a meddlesome squirrel, and send him packing—another time a black snake stirred up such a racket that he couldn't finish what he'd started. He slid down and let the nest alone.

"Once the whole jay family got after a screech owl and he was a fighter. They pestered him until he was frothy mad, and then dived into the thicket and kept yelling swear words until he went away.

"They hang around all winter, help themselves to my corn, make themselves to home in the barnyard—lots of company for a man, jays are. Not much good as singers, though I have heard them in the cherry tree sometimes when they sounded really jolly.

"They're mimics, too. There was one that used to start my team by clucking to 'em when I stopped at the end of the furrow. And another time, b'lieve it or not, two jays made a fool out of a neighbor's old boy by "sicking" him on the cows. That dog ran all around the pasture like mad hunting the cows and tried to drive them home in the middle of the morning. After a while he must have got wise, for he came past where I was working with his tail between his legs, and when I spoke to him he gave me one sheepish look and scrammed for home.

"This year the jays got at my melons and I found one with a bird actually inside. He stuck out his head and winked at me when I came along with the wagon. Yeah—jays've got something! Some folks hate 'em. I never did. And they seem to recognize their friends. They take good care of their families, too—and they'll gang up to defend their blind, or their aged kin.

"Lots o' company, on a farm, jays are!"

Mrs. Kasenkina's Story—No. 26

Framed Interview Given to Press

By OKSANA S. KASENKINA
Edited by Isaac Don Levine

There was no visible muzzle on me when I was taken that afternoon of Saturday, Aug. 7, to face a group of reporters representing the New York press, yet I was gagged just as effectively as if I had worn one.

The stage was set for a mock interview, in free America, on the order of the show trials put on in Moscow during the Great Purge. The stage manager and his assistant were Consul General Lomakin and Vice Consul Chepurnykh. Serving as a backdrop for the act was a small contingent of picked consular aides lined up against the wall in the rear. In my eyes their visages stamped them as being NKVD veterans.

I was so fagged out when they led me into the room that I was afraid I would get dizzy and fall off the straight-backed chair offered to me. So I asked Chepurnykh to let me sit on a sofa.

That not a single representative of the press present at the interview spoke Russian was, I am convinced, not due to any prearrangement. The effect, however, was to deliver me wholly into the hands of my puppeteers. It enabled them to frame the case according to their fantastic scheme and to present the fabrication to the world and to the American government as the truth.

★

The conversation with the reporters being carried on in English, I barely understood what was going on. And I felt so humiliated at the role assigned to me that I could not look squarely at the newspaper people.

Lomakin and Chepurnykh started off by giving to the press their own agreed account of the events which had made me seek shelter at the farm of the Tolstoy Foundation. From my subsequent questionings by the American authorities I ascertained how bizarre their account was and how replete with downright inventions.

As an instance, it might be sufficient to cite the reported statement by Chepurnykh that my husband was a scientist who had been killed in the war. In my questionnaires and applications filled out in Moscow prior to my departure for America I had consistently recorded that my husband had dies in 1927.

When questions were addressed to me, they were interpreted for me by my keepers, and my answers, in turn, were interpreted and elaborated by them in a way which made some of the reporters look skeptical. My own condition spoke better than anything I could say in the circumstances.

★

When the photographer got ready to take my picture with Lomakin, the latter urged me in Russian, "Smile!" I was made to pose facing Lomakin, Instead of smiling, I had to stifle a cry. Fortunately the picture shows the pressure under which I was laboring.

When the ordeal was over and the reporters rushed out, Lomakin escorted me upstairs to the room assigned to me. "All's well that ends well," he remarked with satisfaction. "You'll stay here with us until the next Soviet ship sails back home." And then he added:

"As for Samarin - - he's a durak a fool."

A couple of the consular women who were to dog my steps during the next five days came around to visit with me and to draw out any further information I might yield. From them I learned that when the Samarins and I had failed to come to the pier the morning the Pobeda was to sail for Russia, the departure of the ship was postponed in the expectation that we would show up.

Since our luggage was on board, the Soviet authorities at first thought that some traffic accident might have delayed us. Later, when a search revealed our disappearance, they became convinced that our defections had been part of a single plot. I was unable to persuade them that I had no foreknowledge of the Samarins' plans to remain in America and that I had never confided my own plans to them.

The door to my room was kept open at night. In the hallway a cot was put up on which one of the women clerks of the consulate slept, presumably to keep me company but really to watch over me. Across from the office which I occupied were the living quarters of Lomakin himself, consisting of an alcove with a kitchenette and a large room opening on the court in the rear of the building.

My worry over the press interview grew into anxiety when the newspapers containing the reports of the affair were kept from me. It became clear that I was being exploited for propaganda purposes. At the same time the solicitude for my health displayed by my guardians was disgusting to me. They were playing with me.

In the morning the women would bring in tea and one of them usually breakfasted with me. I had all my meals with them in the room on the third floor, but ate very little. "What can we do for you, is there something special we can get for you?" they would ask sweetishly.

In the street outside, upon which the two windows of my room looked out, there was unusual and incessant activity. Through the drawn curtains and behind the drapes at the window sides I could see knots of people on the sidewalk and in front of the fashionable hotel across, gazing at the consulate. I caught glimpses of the reporters, photographers and police accosting the consular officials as they came and went.

★

The consulate itself became something like a fortress under seige. From the Amtorg and the UN personnel Soviet officials were recruited and installed in our building as if they were preparing to repel an invasion. Every few minutes someone would either pass my room or look into it.

Yet the vigil inside and outside gave me courage. I felt that I was no longer alone, that I had the support of the American people. This became strikingly evident when Lomakin was served with papers to produce me in an American court.

There was much excitement over it in the consulate. There were moments when it was thought that the police chiefs who called on Lomakin would insist on seeing me and taking me before the judge. Then my keepers would become extremely concerned over my welfare. "You'll be our chief witness," Vice Consul Chepurnukh said to me one day in his most endearing manner.

I thought otherwise. By this time I realized that my appearance in an American court would be my last chance to break away from my jailers and to reach an open road to freedom.

Boy Scouts Untie Some Knots, Too!

Somewhere in Mansfield is a man who can personally endorse the Boy Scouts as an organization which has done outstanding work in developing youths into law-abiding citizens.

Nearly twenty years ago this man joined with a gang of other young boys from the southeast section of the city in a series of car-thefts. The boys were rounded up by the police and brought before juvenile court authorities where they denied any connection with the crimes.

However, the youngest member of the group decided to tell the truth about the gang's activities, and it was his honesty which attracted the attention and interest of Floyd Dent, who was at that time connected with the juvenile court in addition to serving as Boy Scout executive.

Further investigation revealed that the boy was from a good home and had never before been in any trouble. These facts, coupled with the boy's honesty during the questioning, saved him from being sentenced to the Boys' Industrial school.

A new Boy Scout troop was in the process of being organized in the south section of the city at that time, and the boy was induced to join the troop. In addition he was invited on hunting and trapping trips with Dent and another scoutmaster. Before long, the youth was serving as the troop's Senior patrol leader with 25 boys under his supervision. He finished high school and today has a position of trust with a local company.

A TRAP IS BORN

One Boy Scout troop, still in operation here in Mansfield, had its origin in a similar episode.

One morning Dent was in a downtown store when he noticed a group of boys. While three of the group asked questions of the store clerk, a fourth was filling his pockets with pensils, erasers and other small items from a nearby counter. When they left, Dent followed them to another store, where the same tactics were employed in getting tools and sporting goods. One of the boys was recognized by Dent, who asked the aid of two Senior Boy Scouts in doing a bit of investigation. By shadowing the gang for several days, the Senior Scouts learned that the boys had been hiding their loot in a large wooden box under a pile of brush at the rear of one of their homes.

That night the Senior Scouts went to the boys' hiding place and removed the contents of the box, which filled two large burlap sacks. These were brought to Dent and he called the boys' fathers and asked them to bring their sons to his office the next morning.

The boys emphatically denied they had been seen in the stores, but when Dent emptied the two sacks on a table they admitted their guilt.

According to Dent, the fathers were shocked at the details of their sons' activities. However, instead of following the suggestions of one father that the boys should have "the daylights beaten out of them," Dent suggested that the four fathers get together and organize a Boy Scout troop in their neighborhood and take over as the troop committee. This was done, and for the first time in their lives the four boys worked along with their fathers on a project to develop what is today considered one of the more active Boy Scout troops in Mansfield.

(An interesting sidelight on this story is that Dent worked in a Mansfield plant alongside one of the fathers before entering Boy Scout work. When the man learned of Dent's new enterprise he berated the venture with the remark "you won't have anything to do in that work, we can take care of our own boys".)

Not long ago a man called at Dent's office accompanied by his young son. He wanted the boy to become a member of a cub scout den.

"I don't want you to get my boy like you got me. I want you to get him into the Cub Scouts," he explained.

It wasn't until then that Dent recognized the father as one of the boys who had been implicated in the shoplifting.

TROOP 28 YEARS OLD

Mansfield's only troop of colored Boy Scouts was the outgrowth of a cutting scrape. An argument between two young colored boys resulted in one of them drawing a knife and wounding the other. No charges were filed, but in following the incident Boy Scout officials learned that the first youth had never been in trouble before and was well-liked in his community. He expressed his desire to work with young boys, and with the help of Boy Scout officials was instrumental in organizing the troop which is still in existence after 23 years.

Today there are nearly 900 boys enrolled in the Boy Scouts in Mansfield, either as Senior Scouts, Scouts or Cub Scouts, their activities are directed by 324 volunteer leaders.

Dent estimates that more than 7,000 Mansfield youths have participated in the Boy Scout program in Mansfield since its organization 28 years ago. The Boy Scouts are a Red Feather agency supported by the Mansfield Community Chest.

Begins Sentence

HAMILTON—(AP)—Cyril (Scotty) Gordon, 27, convicted slayer of Morris R. Abbott, Reily township farmer, has been taken to Ohio Penitentiary to begin a life sentence. Mrs. Marie Conn Abbott, 40, widow of the victim, also under life sentence for the slaying, is expected to be taken to Marysville reformatory later in the week.

Relic Found In Lake Erie

FORT ERIE, Ont. (U.P.)—An old anchor chain believed to have come from an American ship sunk by the British in the war of 1812 was recovered from Lack Erie by Harry G. Ekdahl.

Ekdahl hooked onto the chain while fishing off Waverly Beach. He dropped a buoy and returned later with several men and hoisting equipment. Because of the anchor, it was impossible to pull it over the side of the boat so the chain was severed from it with a hacksaw.

Now Ekdahl is building a special rigging for his boat so he can lift the 600-pound anchor from the lake.

River Spiked With Alcohol

ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—The government played host to Old Man River and the Mississippi catfish here when federal customs agents spiked the muddy waters with rum.

Between 9,000 and 10,000 gallons of rum were poured into the river. It was shipped here from the Virgin Islands duuring the war but went unclaimed because of the heavy import tax.

After failing to dispose of the 130 to 150 proof rum at an auction, Collector James R. Wade ordered the 225 barrels of rum poured into the river because it had been costing the government warehouse fees..

SPENCER D. IRWIN TALKS ON WORLD NEWS TO CLUBS

The Nomads and Wednesday Study Club Members Hear Authority on Foreign Affairs.

A WORKING JOURNALIST, whose life is devoted to obtaining the latest in world wide news, is Spencer D. Irwin, associate editor and foreign affairs columnist of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, who spoke to 60 Mansfield women Wednesday.

The Nomads and Wednesday Study club members met for a joint program at the Westbrook Country club, inviting many guests to hear this noted commentator and lecturer.

As an authority on foreign affairs, he gave a disturbing and informative resume of up-to-date news on the east-west split, the Berlin blockade, the U. N., and conditions in France.

"There will be no war in the immediate future," said Irwin, "for two simple reasons. The United States will not start war and the Russians cannot."

"There are a dozen reasons daily why war could begin, but both sides choose to ignore them," he said.

He told of the Berlin blockade, which he says becomes increasingly aggravated. According to his statistics the Allies have tried to negotiate with Moscow, but with tragic consequences.

"The State department is in a pessimistic mood at the present time," stated the speaker, "and is full of tired, discouraged individuals."

According to Irwin we are in an era of organized disorder but have reached a turning point in history.

In discussing the conditions in Berlin at the present time, the columnist said that he felt the Russians would keep the kettle boiling.

Mrs. E. D. Gibson, first vice president of the Nomads, presided and introduced the guest speaker.

Luncheon was served preceding the program. Fall flowers were used to decorate the two long tables.

On Nov. 3 Mrs. Scott Coffin will entertain the Nomads and on Nov. 10, Wednesday Study club members will meet with Mrs. William Bowers as hostess. Dr. Alan Adam will be the guest speaker for the latter meeting.

Sappho Club Entertained At Clubhouse

Mrs. C. E. Jenkins was hostess to twenty-seven members and one guest at the Sappho club meeting Wednesday at the Women's club.

The luncheon tables were centered with arrangements of fall flowers.

Mrs. J. H. Finefrock gave the review of the day on "Women's Magazines."

The "Late 19th Century Nationalism" was the theme of the musical program for yesterday.

Mrs. Dean Eckert played Tschiakowsky's "Troika" and Mrs. Bruce Rogers sang Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Song of India" and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. She was accompanied by Mrs. Eckert at the piano.

The next meeting will be Nov. 3 at the Women's club with Mrs. G. L. Stevens as hostess for the 1 o'clock luncheon.

Circle Four Farm Scene of Meeting

The Dorcas Bible class of the Main Street Evangelical church was entertained at the home of Mrs. E. L. Myers, Circle Four farm, Bellville, recently.

Beta Chapter, Sorosis, Hears Talk By Mrs. Wayne Miller

Mrs. Miller's review was based on the true story of Anna L. Carroll, one of the first woman journalists during the Civil war. Through her advice to political and military leaders, and her prolific writings, she has become an important figure in American history. Be Careful What You Say When Children Are Present

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

MY daughter recently informed me that her two older children under five have promised "to give away the next two babies." She says that so many of her adult friends have asked these children "to sell" them their baby brother that they have been cajoled into making the promise. "And some of these friends are parents, too," my daughter added. One might suppose they would have better sense.

Have you observed the many silly things some adults say to young children? The apparent reason is that these adults, wishing to make conversation with the child, just don't know what to say. Among the usual drab questions are. How old are you? What's your name? No child escapes such questions until after he is far in adolescence, when more embarrassing questions are usually asked.

OBJECT OF CURIOSITY

What should one say to a child? Usually if one lets him alone and acts toward him as if he were the person he really is instead of some object of curiosity, he will begin to talk on his own accord. If he is doing or making something, one can induce him to talk by being appreciative of his possessions and activities, being careful never to talk down to him or make him feel one is treating him as less grown-up than he is.

If you feel you must talk to the young child whom you don't know well or never met before, ask him the name of a playmate, or what he enjoys most when he plays, or about the playthings he has or the stories he likes most to hear. The child from six to twelve may choose to tell you what he likes to make and do for fun or to show you something he has constructed or created in some other manner. There is no better way to reach the heart of a child than through appreciation of what he has done with his hands, and this may be true of the child right through his teens. If you can win an invitation to his workshop you need only to look and listen appreciatively and he will talk freely.

SENSES ATTITUDE

Be the child three, twelve or fifteen, he soon senses your attitude toward him as a person. He gets it through the way you breathe, look and listen. He soon discovers whether you are sincere and honest with him.

You will, of course, be on guard against saying anything that would make him feel unworthy or inferior or that might make him suppose you would ever ridicule anything he would say or do. Taking such precautions, you would never make personal remarks about him or other people as, for example, about a scar, color of hair, weight or size. Nor would you indulge in silly remarks about "your boy friend" or "your girl friend."

As you have observed certain adults with children and youths you must have been impressed with the way these adults win the child's confidence and bring out of them free and delightful conversation. I'm sure you easily discern in such gracious adults a genuine sincerity and appreciation of the child as a person. Such achievement is truly enviable. Some of the ideals of the foregoing appear in that prayer I wrote for myself as parent, a copy of which may be had in a stamped envelope.

Family Nite Observed

Family night was observed by members of the Francis Willard chapter, WCTU, Tuesday evening at North Lake park pavilion. A covered dish dinner was served. The meeting was opened with group singing and Mrs. J. H. Stottler presided for the business session.

Mrs. Doris Hall led devotions. Two Senior high school students, James Morris and Russell Betz, spoke on the proposed bond issue. Mrs. L. L. Frederick was in charge of the program.

Misses Margaret and Arlene Kline favored with piano accordian and xylophone duet. A vocal duet was given by Mrs. W. R. Duckworth and Mrs. Stottler, accompanied by Miss Margaret Kline.

Mrs. Phillip Wolfe was the guest speaker, using as her topic "Our Presidential Candidates." Remarks were given by Mr. Wolfe. The meeting was closed with "A Prayer," in unison.

On Nov. 16 Mrs. L. J. Greenawalt, 544 Sloane avenue, will entertain the chapter.

Preceding the auxiliary meeting the Marquis circle met for a dinner with Mrs. Mabel Askey and Mrs. B. C. Summerville as hostesses. The next circle meeting will be Oct. 27 for quilting.

E. T. CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Andrew Herring, 251 Rae avenue, was hostess to members of the E. T. club Tuesday evening. A social hour was enjoyed by the 18 in attendance. Mrs. Flossie Huber was welcomed as a guest. Games were the diversion with prizes won by Mrs. Huber, Mrs. Tom Woodard and Mrs. Albert Krumm. At a late hour refreshments were served with decorations in keeping with the Halloween season. Latest innovation in wedding ring designs features "bangle" bands of palladium, described as "miniature bracelets" because they extend almost to the knuckle of the third finger, left hand. To avoid excessive weight, the designer selected the platinum sister, metal, palladium.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, October 22

WHILE adverse and conflicting planetary configurations are in evidence on this day, yet there are favorable aspects to nullify such if properly utilized. PLians may be muddled and upset, higher-ups may lend a deaf ear to insistent appeas, yet an alert mind, "quick on the trigger" and versatile in mmipulating the confused and distorted undercurrents, might work wonders in swerving defeat into victory and profit. Tact, courtesy and amiability could create more power than enmity, rancor and harsh words.

For the Birthday

Thise whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of situations which they may best control and modify by tact, amiability, courtesy and persuasion rather than harsh, vindictive, malicious and offensive behavior. "Easy does it", since the mind is particularlykeen, alert, adaptable and farseeing. Placate and convince those in high places holding out on needful support holding out on need ful support. Those close at home in business or domicile may also need tactful and considerate approach rather than sullen words, enmity or jealousy.

A child born on this day may ha many conflicting elements in character, but native shrewdness and versatility might divert it from conflict and enmity into more lucrative and happier channels.

Girls Face Starvation or Slavery

Traffic In Women Booms In the Orient

SINGAPORE — (AP) — The slave girl trade is a booming business in the Orient.

Starving families in China sell their daughters for five to ten dollars in U. S. currency. Slave traders sell them in this British crown colony for from $550 to $500 U. S., despite the best efforts of the authorities.

Expenses are slight, little more than steamer passage, some clothing and a bribe or two. Most of the girls imported from China are between the ages of 13 and 17.

Mrs. M. Webb of the women's and girls' section of the Social Welfare department, said some of the girls are smuggled in over the border from Siam. Others go first to the small Dutch-owned islands near the coast and cross over in junks and sampans at night. A considerable number probably are slipped in right under the nose of the immigration department.

CALLED "MUI TSAI"

Not all the girls brought into the colony by the traders are intended for prostitution, although many eventually are forced into it. Secret slavery still exists along the China coast and in this British colony. The Chinese slave girl, called "Mui Tsai," is still found in quite a number of Singapore's Asiatic homes.

Although the owning of "Mui Tsai" was outlawed in 1933, Mrs. Webb estimates there might easily be 2,000 such slave girls in the colony today. The majority are Chinese girls smuggled in by dealers.

Tricks of the trade are many. Some of the most subtle are employed to get the slaves past the immigration authorities. Forged identity papers are commonplace. Perhaps the most popular subterfuge is that of passing off the immigrants as "adopted daughters" on their way to new homes. A "relative" in Singapore secures the required identity certificate, which is sent to the prospective immigrant.

Mrs. Webb hears many stories fantastic to western ears, but much that seems strange and terrible in Blackpool and Kalamazoo is commonplace here.

"My sister sold me," was the simple explanation offered the authorities by one little Chinese teenager.

In China the sister may well have earned praise for her action. If the girl had remained at home, she might have starved to death The money for her sale probably provided food for the rest of the family while the girl herself remained alive.

OFTEN ABUSED

A "Mui Tsai" receives food, clothing and shelter of a sort, plus a nominal wage of 50 cents to $1 50 U. S. a month, depending on her age and strength. She is at the bottom of the servants' social hierarchy and is allotted the meanest of household chores. Frequently she is beaten, slapped and otherwise abused. Generally, the "Mui Tsai" is married off as soon as she matures. A wife is apt to be jealous of her youthful charms.

Girls destined for prostitution, Mrs. Webb said, usually are sold to a "protector" on arrival here. Her intelligence and physical attraction decide her fate afterward. If she becomes a sing-song girl in a Chinese club she may meet a wealthy customer who will set her up in her own flat or apartment. The less fortunate soon join the ranks of the street-walkers.

Periodic raids by the authorities bring in numbers of such juveniles A great many more escape the net. In the last year an attempt was made to rehabilitate girls under 18 at an experimental girls' home in a Singapore suburb.

Behind a locked gate and barbed wire fence the girls receive medical attention and learn to cook, sew and keep house. Some never are able to adjust themselves to a normal life. Some have no desire to do so. Many escapes have been made from the home All that Mrs Webb and her associates can do is try to repair damage already done.

Princess Goes To Wedding

LONDON — (AP) — Princess Elizabeth, clad in an olive green maternity dress, turned out with the royal family yesterday for the wedding of two members of her household

Principals in the ceremony at fashionable St. Margaret's church in Westminster, were Elizabeth's lady in waiting, Lady Margaret Egerton, fifth daughter of the late Earl of Ellesmere, and her private secretary, John Colville. Natural Gas Pinch Seen

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Government authorities today forecast nationwide natural gas shortages this winter.

Experts said gas supply prospects are the worst for any major fuel. The reasons

1. A tremendous postwar increase in the number of homes using gas.

2. A steel shortage which has prevented a comparable expansion of production and transportation facilities.

Government officials predicted industrial shutdowns for lack of gas and occasional interruptions of service to homes in many areas.

The worst shortage spots are the Appalachian area and the midwest. Reduction of industrial gas deliveries have started in these regions already. The Federal Power commission is calling for more stringent curtailments in the midwest.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Scrambled Name Fails to Cover Peddler of Russian Propaganda

NEW YORK—Four years ago, during Governor Tom Dewey's western campaign trip, I got wind of some speeches for President Roosevelt by a New York radio pundit named William S. Gailmor which aroused my suspicions for two reasons. They were familiar Communist propaganda as of that time and it seemed to me that the name Gailmor had to be a fake because it has an "English" sound and yet, if it were authentic and not a synthetic alias, it would have an "e" on the far end of it.

I found, on my return from the west, that this new genius was getting a good press in the dirty papers, and yet found him a hard man to run down.

He was working for a thing called the Blue Network, which has since become the American Broadcasting company. Ed Noble, a rich New Dealer, who got richer than ever working the same side of the street with Gailmor, was about to put this Kremlinite on a national hookup. And he was telling himself, and trying to tell me, that Gailmor's stuff wasn't Communist medicine at all but just good Democratic doctrine.

I can't say what was in Noble's mind, but I will say that I got off him right there because I won't admit that any man could be as smart in business and politics as he was and be too dumb to spot the party line in Gailmor's orations.

I ran down Gailmor by hand. I ran him through the police records and the courts, and found that he was a cheap swindler, a check-bouncer, and absconder from his young wife, and, finally, a convicted crook who had five times engaged automobiles driven by chauffeurs and stolen the cars by sending the drivers on little errands.

This crook's name was Margolis at the time and he had been a student of religion, intending to be a Rabbi.

Gailmor harangued American ears with propaganda for the "Ludlin committee" when only a handful of us had ever heard of this Quisling committee established by the Soviets to deliver stricken Catholic Poland into her present slavery. Nowhere else but in the Daily Worker and in other dirty papers on the same pipeline from Moscow could you learn about the "Lublin Committee."

I tried to hurry this story through in time for the 1944 election, but you can't fish fast and so it was not until it was all over that I turned him up. William S. Gailmor is a scrambling of the letters of William Margolis.

Well, Noble slithered and bloviated all over the place.

Suppose the guy had taken a false step. He was going straight now, wasn't he?

No, he wasn't going straight, I said. He was talking Moscow propaganda.

Oh, now! That was going pretty far.

Well, Mr. Noble wasn't going to interfere with this man's freedom of speech and spemin the posnade because in that case you always merpolate the bossard. As the great Themistocles of Athens used to say, that would be infidictimous.

I was sorry I had not fetched this varmint during the campaign, but no use crying over that. Anyway, I would fix him so he wouldn't run again. So I gave his leg a snap and threw him in the briers and let him go.

And, what do you know?

Comes 1948 and here he is again, campaigning with Bubblehead Wallace as the ballyhoo and collector all over the country. And if you didn't think old Bubblehead was simple-minded after reading those goofy Guru letters you had to give up on him when you read that he was using Gailmor right next to real money.

President's Comment On Tension Easing Draws Fire From Winchell

In directing the Defense Dep't to strengthen our reserves, the President told newsmen: "It has nothing to do with the world tension, which has eased because of a change in the Russian attitude."

This is to respectfully report to the President that his advisers apparently are not keeping him informed. Or they are too concerned with the political campaign to read the latest dispatches from American Ambassadors all over the world. The tension has not eased.

★

This is the world picture: France is crippled by a Moscow coal strike. Today the safety men in French mines strike for 24 hours, leaving the mines wide open to sabotage . . . Italy has two and three-quarter million unemployed, and the Communists are making headway again . . . Guerilla war is sputtering in the Middle East, and London fears the sparks may set off the main explosion . . . Tito is massing on the Bulgarian frontier because the Red Army is mounting an offensive against him. Moscow agents have taken over many of India's key unions. Whole sections of Burma are in terror of Communist Guerillas, and civil war is raging in Indonesia . . . French Indo-China has developed a revolt which may require a French expeditionary force to put down . . . Chiang Kai-shek is tottering.

The President must know that very secret talks are going on between the new Soviet Ambassador to China nad Chiang's Minister of Foreign Affairs . . . The underground war in Korea has been stepped up so much, surely the President must know that Gen. MacArthur called a hurried military defense conference in Tokyo . . . Surely the President must know of the conversation between Chiang's close friend and ex-premier, Chang Chun, and MacArthur about the desperate Soviet undercover onslaught in the Far East.

No, the tension has not eased. The record clearly shows that only last week Mr. Truman's own State Dep't declared that it was now obvious that Russia believed a war was inevitable . . . And there you are. That's why we have to have newspapermen. To get the news so that the people will know the score, every inning, no matter how bad the news is . . . It is better to know the worst than to have a beaten nation of Americans one day say: "Our government didn't always tell us the truth. But why didn't our free press?"

★

Last week in Berlin Gen. Clay invited the reporter for the N. Y. Herald Tribune to look at the trial record of Ilse Koch. The reporter then reported that he agreed with Gen. Clay. That there is "no evidence" against her of using human skin for lamp shades.

The real story is why the facts are missing from her record. They can be found in the official U. S. Army Report of April 25, 1945. It is all written down on Page 4 of the report on the camp at Buchenwald.

David Rousset, French author of "The Days of Our Death" and "The World of the Concentrationnaire" (picturing the horrors of the concentration camps) is an eye-witness against Ilse Koch . . . He is ready to swear that she inspected hundreds of naked men—and if the tattooing on any of them struck her fancy—he died that night . . . That's from one of the most distinguished foreign correspondents . . . One of the favorite methods of killing—was heavy injections of air into a vein . . . The victim died in spasms resembling smothering after 20 minutes of agony.

The Nazis regarded this as sport.

Landowners Vote Friday On Soil Plan

Farmers to Decide Fate of Proposal

An election to determine whether a soil conservation district will be set up in Richland county will be held tomorrow from 1 to 9 p. m.

Landowners will vote in their regular township voting places, except in Madison township, where all landowners will vote at Madison high school.

Eligible to vote on the question are all owners of three acres or more of land outside incorporated areas. A 65 per cent majority is required for the issue to carry.

County Agent C. N. McGrew and a soil conservation district steering committee today urged landowners to vote on the question.

The purpose of a soil conservation district is to aid farmers in the maintenance and improvement of the productivity of their farms through proper use of land, and through applying soil building and conservation practices.

Landowners are entitled to use the district's services, which are free, and no one is compelled to use the services. There is no taxation as a result of the setting up of the district, McGrew said.

Township committeemen who will handle the election were briefed last night on voting procedure. They were issued ballots and instruction sheets at a meeting in the court house.

The third annual "autumn festival" of the choirs at Senior high school will be held Saturday night, Oct. 30. in the Senior high auditorium and gymnasium, class committee members announced today.

Included in the general program will be two shows, called "Modern Melodies," each of which will last 45 minutes. The first will start at 7 p. m. and the second at 10:30 p. m. Concessions will be placed in the gymnasium for between-show participation.

Hails Truman As 'Lincoln of Today'

Attorney Robert W. Levering, of Mt. Vernon, Democratic candidate for Congress, said last night that President Truman is the Abraham Lincoln of today because he has the same kind of courage.

Levering said that the President has not been afraid to tell the people where he stands, even though he might be risking defeat.

Levering spoke at a Democratic rally, sponsored by the Colored Democratic club, at 297 North Main street, attended by more than 200 persons.

Levering said that he, himself, believes in civil rights. He said he stood with the "small people" of the country.

Tom Davis, former Cleveland councilman, charged that a Republican victory could result in this nation's losing four years of progress.

Davis said the money people have now is "false" and added: "You're in a depression now." He said he was able to purchase butter and meat cheaper under OPA and the black market than he can now.

He urged his listeners: "Don't listen to the Republican "song and dance." Get out and vote Democratic."

Davis then asked his audience: "Whatever happened to the million dollar sales tax case against Kroger and the A. and P. grocery chains?"

He said that as attorney general, John W. Bricker, in 1936, made a ruling which saved those corporations that much money in sales tax receipts.

John O. Holly, of the state and national campaign committee, said he couldn't see how his audience could fail to support Truman. He also urged support of Frank J. Lausche, Democratic candidate for governor, and reviewed Lausche's efforts which helped bring about the placement of Negroes in commercial and industrial jobs in Cleveland.

C. J. McLine, president of the Ohio State Democratic league, said that as a trade-union man he was concerned in seeing that Congress has set out to destroy trade unionism.

He said that no minority group can afford to lose four years by electing "some wild-haired person who has no program behind him."

Local Democrats who spoke included Recorder D. D. Orewiler, Fred W. Dill, candidate for county commissioner, County Commissioner Guy F. Stewart, C. L. Mitchell, candidate for county representative, E. P. Long, candidate for sheriff, Treasurer C. C. Payne, Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning and Prosecutor Harold Lutz.

Pupils Visit Pottery Plant

Pupils of the Country Day school, grades one through six, yesterday paid a visit to the Fredericksburg Art Pottery company and watched experts produce art pottery commercially. The visit was an educational supplement to the clay handicraft work which the children do in school, according to Mrs. Ethelouise Carpenter, principal.

The children made the trip in automobiles provided by a parents' committee and were accompanied by members of the school staff. At the pottery plant they saw the entire process, including pouring of clay into molds, drying, color spraying, glazing and firing.

Last Friday, the Country Day pupils paid a visit to Harcourt Place school at Gambier. The school was founded last year and patterned after Mansfield Country Day. Next special event on the children's school calendar will be a Halloween party Oct. 29.

Secretaries Hear Gongwer

J. Howard Gongwer, Mansfield attorney, spoke to members of the National Secretaries association, on "Observations Concerning the 1948 Election Campaign and Its Candidates," at a meeting Tuesday night.

Discussing the four political parties now campaigning for the presidency, Attorney Gongwer spoke of the Republicans, Democrats, Progressives and the Dixiecrats. He emphasized that everyone should vote and consider his candidates carefully.

"If this republic is to continue," he declared, "all of us must be seriously interested in politics. It is our duty."

New Station Gets Call

Serves Boulevards, Woodland Areas

The new No. 5 fire station on Marion avenue went into operation yesterday at 3 p. m. and firemen made their first run at 11:10 a. m. today. They extinguished a leaf fire on Fairlawn avenue.

Fire captains for the new station are Virgil Norris and Leo Jones. The station serves the entire South Boulevards and Woodland areas bounded on the north by Park avenue west and on the south by the city limits. The eastern limit is Sturges avenue.

The red brick building cost approximately $60,000 and took 10 months to build. A 750-gallon-per-minute Seagrave pumper is stationed at the building.

The new fire house will have two three-man crews working 24-hour tricks.

The new station is the first addition to the Mansfield fire department since No. 4 station was built in 1911.

Errors Cause Ballot Change

The Richland County Board of Elections has had to order a change in the Mansfield $500,000 sewer bond issue ballots to be used in the November election.

The change came about as the result of an error in the original ballot form certified by City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch to the election board.

The mistake was discovered in the office of the Secretary of State in Columbus when ballot forms were sent there for final checking, Thomas R. Ziegler, board clerk, said.

The part that was in error was a phrase which gave the mill rate that the bond issue would require and the period the issue would run. Actually, the words should have been twice the size of the words surrounding that phrase.

Richland Called 'Typical'

Story To Go To Rest of World

The U. S. Department of State has chosen Richland county as a typical U. S. county and has sent in a writer-photographer to record the current election so he can tell the rest of the world about it.

Here getting material is Thomas W. Parker, of Washington, D. C., a writer-photographer for the International Press and Publications division of the State department. Parker said he would be here until after election day.

Parker said today that he is making a study through photography and writing on just exactly how America elects its public officials on the county level.

CHOSEN OVER 4

He said that Ohio was chosen as a typical American state and that he narrowed Ohio counties to five as the most typical, settling finally on Richland county. He said the county was equally an agricultural and industrial community.

The photographs will be used in film strips and posters, and made available to foreign magazines. All the photos and written material will be distributed on a worldwide basis, Parker said.

Parker took pictures last night at a rally sponsored by the Colored Democratic club on North Main street, as part of the project.

He said other phases of the study will include the actual voting, counting of the ballots, other rallies, and the means of getting the information on the campaign to the people.

Scrambled Name Fails to Cover Peddler of Russian Propaganda

NEW YORK—Four years ago, during Governor Tom Dewey's western campaign trip, I got wind of some speeches for President Roosevelt by a New York radio pundit named William S. Gailmor which aroused my suspicions for two reasons. They were familiar Communist propaganda as of that time and it seemed to me that the name Gailmor had to be a fake because it has an "English" sound and yet, if it were authentic and not a synthetic alias, it would have an "e" on the far end of it.

I found, on my return from the west, that this new genius was getting a good press in the dirty papers, and yet found him a hard man to run down.

He was working for a thing called the Blue Network, which has since become the American Broadcasting company. Ed Noble, a rich New Dealer, who got richer than ever working the same side of the street with Gailmor, was about to put this Kremlinite on a national hook-up. And he was telling himself, and trying to tell me, that Gailmor's stuff wasn't Communist medicine at all but just good Democratic doctrine.

I can't say what was in Noble's mind, but I will say that I got off him right there because I won't admit that any man could be as smart in business and politics as he was and be too dumb to spot the party line in Gailmor's orations.

I ran down Gailmor by hand. I ran him through the police records and the courts, and found that he was a cheap swindler, a check-bouncer, and absconder from his young wife, and, finally, a convicted crook who had five times engaged automobiles driven by chauffeurs and stolen the cars by sending the drivers on little errands.

This crook's name was Margolis at the time and he had been a student of religion, intending to be a Rabbi.

Gailmor harangued American ears with propaganda for the "Ludlin committee" when only a handful of us had ever heard of this Quisling committee established by the Soviets to deliver stricken Catholic Poland into her present slavery. Nowhere else but in the Daily Worker and in other dirty papers on the same pipeline from Moscow could you learn about the "Lublin Committee."

I tried to hurry this story through in time for the 1944 election, but you can't fish fast and so it was not until it was all over that I turned him up. William S. Gailmor is a scrambling of the letters of William Margolis.

Well, Noble slithered and bloviated all over the place.

Suppose the guy had taken a false step. He was going straight now, wasn't he?

No, he wasn't going straight, I said. He was talking Moscow propaganda.

Oh, now! That was going pretty far.

Well, Mr. Noble wasn't going to interfere with this man's freedom of speech and spemin the posnade because in that case you always merpolate the bossard. As the great Themistocles of Athens used to say, that would be infidictimous.

I was sorry I had not fetched this varmint during the campaign, but no use crying over that. Anyway, I would fix him so he wouldn't run again. So I gave his leg a snap and threw him in the briers and let him go.

And, what do you know?

Comes 1948 and here he is again, campaigning with Bubblehead Wallace as the ballyhoo and collector all over the country. And if you didn't think old Bubblehead was simple-minded after reading those goofy Guru letters you had to give up on him when you read that he was using Gailmor right next to real money.

President's Comment On Tension Easing Draws Fire From Winchell

In directing the Defense Dep't to strengthen our reserves, the President told newsmen: "It has nothing to do with the world tension, which has eased because of a change in the Russian attitude."

This is to respectfully report to the President that his advisers apparently are not keeping him informed. Or they are too concerned with the political campaign to read the latest dispatches from American Ambassadors all over the world. The tension has not eased.

★

This is the world picture: France is crippled by a Moscow coal strike. Today the safety men in French mines strike for 24 hours, leaving the mines wide open to sabotage . . . Italy has two and three-quarter million unemployed, and the Communists are making headway again . . . Guerilla war is sputtering in the Middle East, and London fears the sparks may set off the main explosion . . . Tito is massing on the Bulgarian frontier because the Red Army is mounting an offensive against him. Moscow agents have taken over many of India's key unions. Whole sections of Burma are in terror of Communist Guerillas, and civil war is raging in Indonesia . . . French Indo-China has developed a revolt which may require a French expeditionary force to put down . . . Chiang Kai-shek is tottering.

The President must know that very secret talks are going on between the new Soviet Ambassador to China nad Chiang's Minister of Foreign Affairs . . . The underground war in Korea has been stepped up so much, surely the President must know that Gen. MacArthur called a hurried military defense conference in Tokyo . . . Surely the President must know of the conversation between Chiang's close friend and ex-premier, Chang Chun, and MacArthur about the desperate Soviet undercover onslaught in the Far East.

No, the tension has not eased. The record clearly shows that only last week Mr. Truman's own State Dep't declared that it was now obvious that Russia believed a war was inevitable . . . And there you are. That's why we have to have newspapermen. To get the news so that the people will know the score, every inning, no matter how bad the news is . . . It is better to know the worst than to have a beaten nation of Americans one day say: "Our government didn't always tell us the truth. But why didn't our free press?"

Last week in Berlin Gen. Clay invited the reporter for the N. Y. Herald Tribune to look at the trial record of Ilse Koch. The reporter then reported that he agreed with Gen. Clay. That there is "no evidence" against her of using human skin for lamp shades.

The real story is why the facts are missing from her record. They can be found in the official U. S. Army Report of April 25, 1945. It is all written down on Page 4 of the report on the camp at Buchenwald.

David Rousset, French author of "The Days of Our Death" and "The World of the Concentrationnaire" (picturing the horrors of the concentration camps) is an eye-witness against Ilse Koch . . . He is ready to swear that she inspected hundreds of naked men—and if the tattooing on any of them struck her fancy—he died that night . . . That's from one of the most distinguished foreign correspondents . . . One of the favorite methods of killing—was heavy injections of air into a vein . . . The victim died in spasms resembling smothering after 20 minutes of agony.

The Nazis regarded this as sport.

Landowners Vote Friday On Soil Plan

Farmers to Decide Fate of Proposal

An election to determine whether a soil conservation district will be set up in Richland county will be held tomorrow from 1 to 9 p. m.

Landowners will vote in their regular township voting places, except in Madison township, where all landowners will vote at Madison high school.

Eligible to vote on the question are all owners of three acres or more of land outside incorporated areas. A 65 per cent majority is required for the issue to carry.

County Agent C. N. McGrew and a soil conservation district steering committee today urged landowners to vote on the question.

The purpose of a soil conservation district is to aid farmers in the maintenance and improvement of the productivity of their farms through proper use of land, and through applying soil building and conservation practices.

Landowners are entitled to use the district's services, which are free, and no one is compelled to use the services. There is no taxation as a result of the setting up of the district, McGrew said.

Township committeemen who will handle the election were briefed last night on voting procedure. They were issued ballots and instruction sheets at a meeting in the court house.

Choirs Stage Carnival

Senior Groups Set Party For Oct. 30

The third annual "autumn festival" of the choirs at Senior high school will be held Saturday night, Oct. 30, in the Senior high auditorium and gymnasium, class committee members announced today.

It will be patterned after last year's carnival event, except that committee members promise it will be, "bigger and better" than ever.

Hails Truman As 'Lincoln of Today'

Attorney Robert W. Levering, of Mt. Vernon, Democratic candidate for Congress, said last night that President Truman is the Abraham Lincoln of today because he has the same kind of courage.

Levering said that the President has not been afraid to tell the people where he stands, even though he might be risking defeat.

Levering spoke at a Democratic rally, sponsored by the Colored Democratic club, at 297 North Main street, attended by more than 200 persons.

Levering said that he, himself, believes in civil rights. He said he stood with the "small people" of the country.

Tom Davis, former Cleveland councilman, charged that a Republican victory could result in this nation's losing four years of progress.

Davis said the money people have now is "false" and added: "You're in a depression now." He said he was able to purchase butter and meat cheaper under OPA and the black market than he can now.

He urged his listeners: "Don't listen to the Republican "song and dance." Get out and vote Democratic."

Davis then asked his audience: "Whatever happened to the million dollar sales tax case against Kroger and the A. and P. grocery chains?"

He said that as attorney general, John W. Bricker, in 1936, made a ruling which saved those corporations that much money in sales tax receipts.

John O. Holly, of the state and national campaign committee, said he couldn't see how his audience could fail to support Truman. He also urged support of Frank J. Lausche, Democratic candidate for governor, and reviewed Lausche's efforts which helped bring about the placement of Negroes in commercial and industrial jobs in Cleveland.

C. J. McLine, president of the Ohio State Democratic league, said that as a trade-union man he was concerned in seeing that Congress has set out to destroy trade unionism.

He said that no minority group can afford to lose four years by electing "some wild-haired person who has no program behind him."

Local Democrats who spoke included Recorder D. D. Orewiler, Fred W. Dill, candidate for county commissioner, County Commissioner Guy F. Stewart, C. L. Mitchell, candidate for county representative, E. P. Long, candidate for sheriff, Treasurer C. C. Payne, Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning and Prosecutor Harold Lutz.

Pupils Visit Pottery Plant

Pupils of the Country Day school, grades one through six, yesterday paid a visit to the Fredericksburg Art Pottery company and watched experts produce art pottery commercially. The visit was an educational supplement to the clay handicraft work which the children do in school, according to Mrs. Ethelouise Carpenter, principal.

The children made the trip in automobiles provided by a parents' committee and were accompanied by members of the school staff. At the pottery plant they saw the entire process, including pouring of clay into molds, drying, color spraying, glazing and firing.

Last Friday, the Country Day pupils paid a visit to Harcourt Place school at Gambier. The school was founded last year and patterned after Mansfield Country Day. Next special event on the children's school calendar will be a Halloween party Oct. 29.

Secretaries Hear Gongwer

J. Howard Gongwer, Mansfield attorney, spoke to members of the National Secretaries association, on "Observations Concerning the 1948 Election Campaign and Its Candidates," at a meeting Tuesday night.

Discussing the four political parties now campaigning for the presidency, Attorney Gongwer spoke of the Republicans, Democrats, Progressives and the Dixiecrats. He emphasized that everyone should vote and consider his candidates carefully.

"If this republic is to continue," he declared, "all of us must be seriously interested in politics. It is our duty."

New Station Gets Call

Serves Boulevards, Woodland Areas

The new No. 5 fire station on Marion avenue went into operation yesterday at 3 p. m. and firemen made their first run at 11:10 a. m. today. They extinguished a leaf fire on Fairlawn avenue.

Fire captains for the new station are Virgil Norris and Leo Jones. The station serves the entire South Boulevards and Woodland areas bounded on the north by Park avenue west and on the south by the city limits. The eastern limit is Sturges avenue.

The red brick building cost approximately $60,000 and took 10 months to build. A 750-gallon-per-minute Seagrave pumper is stationed at the building.

The new fire house will have two three-man crews working 24-hour tricks.

The new station is the first addition to the Mansfield fire department since No. 4 station was built in 1911.

Errors Cause Ballot Change

The Richland County Board of Elections has had to order a change in the Mansfield $500,000 sewer bond issue ballots to be used in the November election.

The change came about as the result of an error in the original ballot form certified by City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch to the election board.

The mistake was discovered in the office of the Secretary of State in Columbus when ballot forms were sent there for final checking, Thomas R. Ziegler, board clerk, said.

The part that was in error was a phrase which gave the mill rate that the bond issue would require and the period the issue would run. Actually, the words should have been twice the size of the words surrounding that phrase.

Richland Called 'Typical'

Story To Go To Rest of World

The U. S. Department of State has chosen Richland county as a typical U. S. county and has sent in a writer-photographer to record the current election so he can tell the rest of the world about it.

Here getting material is Thomas W. Parker, of Washington, D. C., a writer-photographer for the International Press and Publications division of the State department. Parker said he would be here until after election day.

Parker said today that he is making a study through photography and writing on just exactly how America elects its public officials on the county level.

CHOSEN OVER 4

He said that Ohio was chosen as a typical American state and that he narrowed Ohio counties to five as the most typical, settling finally on Richland county. He said the county was equally an agricultural and industrial community.

The photographs will be used in film strips and posters, and made available to foreign magazines. All the photos and written material will be distributed on a world-wide basis, Parker said.

Parker took pictures last night at a rally sponsored by the Colored Democratic club on North Main street, as part of the project.

He said other phases of the study will include the actual voting, counting of the ballots, other rallies, and the means of getting the information on the campaign to the people.

Red Cross to Launch First Aid Course For Mothers Soon

Nineteen children die each day of the year because of home accidents. Many of them would escape death if their mothers knew something about first aid and what to do in emergency.

That is the statement of John H. Finefrock jr., chairman of the first aid committee of the Red Cross chapter here.

"Many times home treatment would prevent death," Finefrock declared today. "But by the time a child reaches the hospital it is often too late; a little home first aid might have turned the trick."

Any day a Mansfield child may be one of those 19 victims. Because of this high child fatality through home accidents, the Red Cross will launch a course in first aid for mothers of Mansfield and Richland county, Finefrock said today.

The course will be under the instruction of Gerald Coron, water safety and first aid director of the Red Cross. Classes will be held from 9 to 11 a. m. or from 1 to 3 p. m. and both times if the registration warrants two classes. Registration may be made and information obtained from the chapter house, 309 Park avenue west, telephone 1494-6.

"So that children themselves and teen-agers may learn the first principles of first aid and help themselves perhaps, from death in case of accidents, we are inaugurating a course also among school pupils," Finefrock stated. "The first such class will be started at Bellville on Nov. 19."

Classes, Coron said, have been delayed because of the football season. With that out of the way next month, pupils can concentrate better on such extra-curricular classes as first aid, he said.

Johnny—age 6—having polished off his own bowl of hot Grape-Nuts Wheat-Meal, was caught in the act of dipping into his small sister's dish.

"Johnny," said his mother, "don't eat your sister's cereal. Just ask for a second helping if you're still hungry."

"It isn't that," replied young John with scorn. "I don't want her to eat it . . . it's too good for just girls."

Juvenile Jury Convicts Four

COVINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—A juvenile jury, backed by a police judge, passed judgment at nearby Ludlow here last night on four 'teen-agers accused of pre-Halloween vandalism.

The youthful jury of eight recommended the accused children apologize to the offended persons and be confined to their homes after 8 p. m. from Oct. 25 to Oct. 31, inclusive. And Police Judge Ernest Mershon jr. said parents of the four accused 'teen-agers had been instructed to follow the recommendation of the jury.

If you were the President of A&P...

What would you do to make your A&P a better place to shop?

Have you ever said to yourself, "If I were the President of A&P, I know what I'd do"? I think there are many A&P customers who would like the opportunity to express themselves on the subject of their A&P. I really believe that from your side of the counter, you know A&P best. That's why I ask your opinion.

You can help to make your A&P an even better place to do all your food buying by sending me your suggestions . . . criticisms . . . opinions. For instance, what about our service? Is it as courteous and helpful as you would like it to be? Is it prompt and efficient, too? Do you always find all items plainly and correctly price-tagged—as they should be? What in your opinion are we doing that we could do even better? Or what are we not doing that you feel we should do?

I INVITE YOU TO WRITE AND TELL ME HOW YOUR A&P MAY SERVE YOU BETTER

We of A&P want to make our stores the finest places of all in which to shop. That is why your suggestions, criticisms and opinions will be gratefully received and acknowledged. You see there are 100,000 employees of A&P from coast to coast jealously guarding the A&P reputation for courteous, honest, and efficient service. They never want to fail you in any way, but if they do, I am sure that they, as well as I, would appreciate your writing me.

Subcommittee May Cite 11

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A House labor subcommittee has closed its investigation of the CIO United Public Workers union with indications that it would seek contempt citations against 11 witnesses.

The 11 refused on constitutional grounds to answer questions about their Communist affiliations, if any. They said such questions violated their rights under the First and Fifth amendments.

Subcommittee Chairman Samuel K. McConnell jr., (R-Pa.), told reporters no further sessions are scheduled. He said the entire record will be turned over to the full labor committee for action.

Mt. Vernon Game to End Grid Holiday

By CHARLEY STINE

Football-mad Mansfield today had lapsed into a frenzied pigskin coma from which it will have no relief until next Sunday.

Not only does Friday night's Arlin field clash between Senior high and Massillon command the attention of the entire state, but Saturday another of the ranking teams in Ohio will make its appearance here. This time Madison's Ram field will be the scene, and the Mt. Vernon Yellowjackets the attraction.

Coach Ennis Walker's Madison team, still smarting from its first defeat in 11 games, will attempt to stopp the march of the Jackets —Ohio's No. 10 team. Mt. Vernon has ridden roughshod over five opponents to earn its place in the select group in the Associated Press weekly poll.

Mt. Vernon, never a football power, has yet to have an undefeated season, and grid fans in that city are in every bit as much a frenzy as their contemporaries are here. The Jackets undoubtedly have their best team in many, many years.

FAST BACKFIELD

The Knox countians, paced by one of the fastest backfields in Ohio, have run up 118 points in their five games, while holding the opposition to 19.

Eleven lettermen grace the Mt. Vernon roster, with eight on the monogram winners in the starting lineup.

Evidence of the brilliance of the backfield is given in the fact that all four starters have been regulars since their freshmen year. One is now a senior, two are juniors, and one a sophomore.

Diamond among the gems is Dick Shuff, 153-pound left half who does all the punting, all the passing, and apparently a little running. He has scored a mere ten touchdowns on an average of 29 yards per scoring jaunt. He is only a junior and is a ten-second man in track.

FINE SUPPORT

Running with him at right half is Karl Johns, a 160-pound sophomore serving his second year as a regular. Dave Mavis, a 165-pound senior is the fullback while under the center in the T-formation is senior Dick Thomas, a 150-pounder. Thomas, the No. 2 back, is a fine ball-handler and fakes a hand-off quite a bit to run with the ball himself. He does no passing.

The line averages 165 pounds and contains the three non-lettermen, two up from the reserve squad and one who is only a sophomore. The "soph" is Jim Imel, 165-pound center, while up from last year's reserve team are right tackle Bill Emlich and right guard Jim Spicer.

Lettermen holdovers are Carrol Berger and Bill Clippinger at the ends, Will Taylor at guard and tackle Paul Mentis, the biggest man on the squad at 180 pounds. Three lettermen—Don Hilliar, Don Scott, and Walt Clippinger ride the bench. Hilliar is second-string center, Scott subs at end and Clippinger, twin brother of the regular right end, is used chiefly as a defensive linebacker.

Barr Declared Champ

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Buck Barr, of Zanesville, will receive the state championship trophy of the All-Star Racing association at the close of the automobile racing season at Jones Speedway near Newark Sunday.

Drill For Contest

BOWLING GREEN — (INS) — Coach Bob Whittaker sent his undefeated Bowling Green squad through a stiff session of fundamentals today in preparation for Saturday's homecoming tussle with Baldwin-Wallace.

Zahn Paces Appleseed To Seventh Victory, 21-0

Coach Jimmy Lymper's Johnny Appleseed football team racked up his seventh straight victory yesterday to become top-heavy favorites to win the city junior high championship.

Appleseed's latest victim was the Madison reserves, beaten 21-0 at Stadium field. The Pioneers have now completed their season undefeated except for the title game with John Simpson set for next Wednesday night at Arlin field.

ZAHN BRILLIANT

Little Freddy Zahn, as brilliant a quarterback as has come out of the junior ranks in some time, was once again the Pioneer sparkplug. He scored two touchdowns, one on an 80-yard run, and kicked all three extra points.

Zahn scored in the second quarter on a one-yard quarterback sneak after a 15-yard penalty on fourth down had helped along the Pioneers drive. In the third quarter he broke loose around right end from his own 20, danced through the secondary, and outran the field for another score.

Johnny Auer added the clincher, going over from the four in the last period. Bud Montgomery just missed a TD when he intercepted a pass at midfield and went the distance only to have the play called back for a clipping penalty.

APPLESEED

Ends — J. Diemer, Allen Carnes Henkel.
Tackles — Yarger, Goodhart.
Guards — Esbensnade, Grubrick, Chamberlain.
Centers — N. Diemer, Britton.
Backs — Huber, Shasky, Mertler, Montgomery, Zahn, Auer, Bonecutter.

MADISON

Ends — Worth, Keith.
Tackles — Davis, R. Fletcher, Lynn.
Center — Stevens.
Backs — Durig, Sprague, Enderle, Hartman, W. Stevens, Miller, Barr.

Appleseed	0	7	7	7	—21

Appleseed Scoring — Touchdowns: Zahn, 2; Auer. Points after touchdown: Zahn, 3 (placement).

Tyger Harrier Team to Race Dayton 'Thins'

Mansfield Senior high school's cross country team will make three or possibly four more appearances this season.

The Tygers of Coach Harry Mehock have raced to four victories in five meets this year and have a mark of 21 of 22 extending over the last three seasons. The only loss in the string was sustained at the hands of Akron East last Saturday in Akron.

Final tuneup for the district meet is scheduled when Dayton Dunbar comes here next Tuesday. The district meet is scheduled Oct. 30 at Toledo's Ottawa park. Mehock announced today that a meet with Springfield at the Coolridge course has been slated Nov. 3.

The 1948 meet will again be run at Coolridge Nov. 6.

Senior high is the defending champion in the Toledo district. Two former footballers — Paul Hammond and Floyd Guegold—have joined the Bengal harrier squad. Hammond, a 1947 grid letterman, was in time trials this week. He runs the 880 on the Tyger track team.

New London 'Cats After Second Win

NEW LONDON—Those "off again on again" New London Wildcats will attempt to get back "on again" this week, when they play hosts to the Huron Tigers Friday evening. It will be the first meeting between the two schools, Huron switching from six to eleven man football only this year.

This will be "team day," honoring all squad members. Fathers will occupy the players' bench during pre-game festivities.

Akron Youngster Signs With Pros

AKRON — (AP) — Right-hander Ronnie Negray, 18, a Kent State university student who hurled Akron Garfield high to three straight baseball championships in Greater Akron, has signed with St. Paul, says his father, Stephen Negray.

He will report to the Brooklyn Dodgers training camp next spring, then serve with the Dodgers' American Association farm club.

Crestline May Be 6th Victim For Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — The undefeated and untied Bucyrus high school Redmen will seek their sixth victory here Friday night when they clash with Crestline High in a Northern Ohio League game.

Bucyrus has won four straight league games and is rated 11th among the state's unbeaten high school teams by an Associated Press poll.

The locals have scored in every quarter of all their games and have piled up 196 points against 7 for the opposition. Willard scoring the lone touchdown.

Bucyrus has not won a game from Crestline since 1944 but Head Coach Al Pesek, a native of Crestline, said today that "this year it's going to be different. We're going to chalk up Win No. 6."

Friendly House Boxers Score Wins at Marion

Friendly House boxers missed a clean sweep by one close decision in amateur bouts last night at Marion.

Four of the young Mansfield boxers returned with victories while the fifth, Johnny Sawyer, 133-pounder, lost a close decision to Marion's Bill Franklin.

Larry Inscore, 145, the Westbrook caddy golf champion, scored the only knockout as he flattened Red Cearns in the second round. Gaining decisions were Howard Carney, 133, over Nat Higgins, 130, of Springfield; Bill Eccles, 150, over Bill Ragtands, 151, of Springfield, and Billy Eberhart, 131, over Jim Peterson, 130, of Springfield.

Youngstown Team To Use Local Field

The Campbell Memorial high school team of Youngstown was to work out on the Senior high practice field at 5 p. m. this afternoon, according to Tyger Chief Augie Morningstar.

The Youngstown team, on its way to play Springfield tomorrow night, will stop here to loosen up before moving on to Columbus where it will be quartered for the night.

Three Mitsch Men Crash 600 Honor Roll

Frankie Mitsch's may be buried in a tie for fourth place in the City A bowling league but last night the Corner Store boys had the spotlight all to themselves.

No fewer than three of the quintet went far above the 600 mark with the lowest of this trio, Orlie Grable, turning in a neat 617. Only an off night for the other two team members kept the quintet from setting all sorts of records.

Pacing the pin onslaught was Frank Burton who cracked out a 657 series on games of 245, 198, and 214. C. Phillipon smashed 210-176-240—626 while Grable had 180-243-194—617. T. LeMunyon had a 504 while C. Englehorn was "off" with a 485.

Mitsch's had a 1001 single game and a total of 2889.

Barons Open Season

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Barons, who have been beaten only once in the last 40 American Hockey league games, open their league home season tonight against the Pittsburgh Hornets.

They will be after their 32nd straight game.

Tulsa May Ban Nevada Grid Stars

RENO, Nev.—(UP)—Two of the University of Nevada's football stars may be flying to Tulsa today just for the ride.

Backfield aces Sherman Howard and Alva Tabor may have to sit on the bench Saturday when their teammates play against Tulsa university because the state of Oklahoma has a law against colored players appearing on athletic fields against white players.

Nevada Coach Joe Sheeketski said Tulsa university officials had reminded him of the law. He said there was no definite commitment made as to the policy to be followed and that he plans to "meet the situation when and if it arises."

MUST OBEY LAWS

"I want to make it plain right now," said Sheeketski, "that Nevada is not making any rash statements about this issue. I realize that Tulsa must obey the laws of its state and I say unqualifiedly that if we learn in Tulsa that Howard and Tabor can't play, that will end the matter.

"Even though it takes away 10 or 15 per cent of my team's playing efficiency, I'm not going to argue the point. If my boys can play, I'll be happy. If they can't, they'll sit on the bench beside me and help dope out ways to beat Tulsa."

BOTH ARE GOOD

Howard is Nevada's first string fullback and Tabor handles the Wolfpack's T-system plays when Quarterback Stan Heath is out of the game.

In 1946, Mississippi State raised the same issue and Nevada board of athletic control promptly cancelled the game, saying publicly that the people of its state could never stand for such treatment of its residents.

Fireworks Display Set for Friday

Two Tyger Clubs Tough On Offense

There'll be quite a display of pyrotechnics at Arlin field Friday night.

And they won't be the kind that used to be fired in profusion on the Fourth of July.

These fireworks will be presented by a couple of offensive minded bands of football tigers from Mansfield Senior high and Massillon Washington high schools.

A complete check of statistics of the first five games of the 1948 season shows that both teams have potent, ground-eating offensives. But neither has been adept at the art of stopping the oppositions' thrusts. So it looks like a battle of offenses with breaks playing a big part in the final analysis.

HAS SLIGHT EDGE

Massillon has a slight edge on the attack while Mansfield's notably weak defense has proved a bit stronger than Washington high's. However, the Tigers have played a tougher schedule than Senior high. Both veteran aggregations have won four of five to rank among Ohio's "big ten."

Senior high probably has the top break-away runner in Little Tommy Tucker. But the junior speedster has been hampered by injuries and may not be able to go at full speed Friday. In the advent Tucker is not in the lineup his offensive spot will again be filled adequately by Lou Gregorio, the baseball pitcher. Gregorio was the Tygers' second best running back last year.

In Capt. Al Brown, Clarence Johnson and Irvin Crable, Massillon has three distinct scoring threats. Johnson has tallied in four of the Tiger games for a total of 34 points, while Brown and Crable each have 30. Johnson is Washington high's long passer and does the place-kicking.

Massillon has scored 131 points to 126 for Mansfield. However, the visitors were held scoreless by Alliance while Coach Augie Morningstar's lads have never been under the two touchdown mark.

TEN TIGERS TALLY

Ten Washington gridders have scored, nine marking up points in the 44-to-13 victory over Cleveland Cathedral Latin. Seven Tygers have points, led by Capt. Joe Miller's 42. Tucker and A. C. Jenkins, fullback, each have 30.

On the ground and in the air Massillon is superior. The Tigers have averaged 297.6 rushing and 73.8 passing. Senior high's mark is 284 and 25.8. Disregarding the opening loss to Whiting, Ind., the Tygers have averaged 330 on the ground.

Other Massillon figures are: 66 first downs, 19 of 58 passes completed and a 32-yard punting average. Senior high has 49 first downs, 11 of 30 passes completed and a 32.1 punting mark.

Defensive figures follow: first downs, Massillon, 50, Senior high, 44; yards rushing, Massillon, 915 yards, Senior high, 810; passes, Massillon, 16 of 64 for 381 yards. Senior high, 22 of 46 for 266 yards; intercepted passes, Massillon, 5, Senior high, 4.

The Tigers have converted after 12 of their 22 touchdowns while Senior high has 12 of 19 extra point attempts.

New Londoners Start Juniors

NEW LONDON—An attempt to put an end to the sad condition of New London football the past several years is being made by Coach Bob Brownson.

Brownson has organized the school's first junior high grid team and is putting the squad through its paces daily on the high school field. Some fifteen 7th, 8th, and 9th graders on the squad are getting ready for the first game which Brownson will book in the near future.

BACK IN UNIFORM—George "Monk" Russell, 1947 regular center of the Senior high Tygers, is back in uniform this week and will see his first action of the current season Friday night. Russell was injured in practice before the season opened.—(N-J photo)

Fesler Has Buck Reserves Running Wisconsin Play

COLUMBUS—(AP)—On a theory that they might as well learn the hard way, Coach Wesley Fesler is giving the Ohio State university football players the nearest thing he can find to Wisconsin.

In a hard scrimmage yesterday in preparation for Saturday's game against the Badgers here, Fesler used the best men from his freshman team to run Wisconsin plays and to use Wisconsin tactics against Ohio State plays.

Al Chiappini, 175-pounder from Jeannette, Pa., played like lefthalf Wally Dreyer, the big wheel of the Wisconsin backfield, and set the varsity back on its heels a couple of times.

LINE OUTMATCHED

The freshman line was outmatched, but pushed hard and made the passers hurry their throws to beat tackles. Alex Vardova, right half from Lakewood, made a 40-yard gain—longest of the cold afternoon—for a touchdown.

Fesler found that he probably could use Pete Perini of New Village, N. J., as linebacker at least some of the time against Wisconsin. Perini was hurt some in the Iowa game and stayed out of the Indiana game last Saturday.

However, halfback Mike Cannavino of Cleveland, who missed both the Southern California and Iowa games, was hurt again in a pileup and may not get too much action Saturday. Somebody stepped on the calf of one leg and left a bad bruise.

Shelby Team May Join Win Column

SHELBY—The Shelby Whippets will battle the Bellevue gridders here Friday night in a game honoring the Shelby Dads.

Coach Bill Wilkins has invited the dads of the varsity players to the game as guests of the boys. The dads will meet in the high school gym at 7:15 and will go to the stadium in a body where they will cheer their sons on from the players bench.

Although Coach Kenny Samsel's gridders are a pre-game favorite, it may prove to be an exciting evening for the Bellevue mentor as the Whippets are on a rebound from two lopsided spankings administered by Bucyrus and Ashland and will be out to prove that they can play ball.

It is expected that Bellevue and the fans will see a different style of play from the Whippets Friday night, and that the Redmen backs will find it tough going when they try to crack the Shelby line.

Ashland Eagle Gridders Play Otterbein 11

ASHLAND — Ashland college opens a four game home stand Saturday afternoon when the Eagles play host to the Cardinals of Otterbein college in the annual Homecoming football clash here.

The once defeated Eagles will be gunning for their fourth victory in six starts. They held a favored Findlay college eleven to a scoreless tie last week-end in a driving rain that lasted the while game.

Otterbein invades Ashland with only one win in four games. However, two of the Cardinal losses have been to the Big Red of Denison and the Heidelberg Student Princes, both teams undefeated so far this year.

With Heidelberg being the only mutual opponent of the two teams this year, the Cardinals go into the game as a ten-point favorite. Ashland lost to Heidelberg, 23 to 0, while the Student Princes spoiled the Otterbein Homecoming last week-end, 19 to 6.

Ashland Coach George Donges said today that he would start practically the same T-formation backfield that defeated Rio Grande, Cedarville and Defiance colleges. Chuck Hill of Euclid will be in the quarterback slot; Warren Thompson of Cuyahoga Falls and Clyde Hawkins, former Cleveland West star, will hold down the halfback positions and Carl Strine of Ashland will start at full.

Large Race Field Scheduled For Ashland Big Car Meet

ASHLAND—Inclement weather forced postponement of Ashland's final big-car racing program of the 1948 season last Sunday but, weather permitting, the gas buggies will burn up the fairground speedway this Sunday.

Thirty-three racing cars—the largest field to show up at an Ohio big-car track this season—were on hand last Sunday.

Virtually all of the drivers assured the Tri-State Racing Association officials that they would be back in Ashland this Sunday to battle it out for more than $1,000 in cash prizes.

Sunday's belated race program will again feature more big cars of the speedway class than any other single race staged in the Buckeye state this year, the promoters claim.

The races will get under way at noon when time trials are scheduled to begin. The race program proper will start at 2:30. First on the program will be three eight-lap eliminations. A four-lap helmet dash will follow and next will be a consolation event. On its heels and concluding the day's thrill-spill show will be the 20-lap main-go.

The track will again be treated to hol ddown the dust for the benefit of the spectators and to assure safest possible racing conditions for the drivers.

Reds Buy Two

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds announced the purchase of Pitchers Millard (Dixie) Howell and Frank Fanovich from Syracuse of the International league. Howell, a right handed hurler, won 17 games and lost 12 this year. Southpaw Fanovich won nine and lost 13.
